Draft Compromise Sets Minimum at 20; Bill Goes to Roosevelt

Registration To Be Required of All
Men From 18 Through 64; Other
Changes Are Made

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Congress cleared the way today for a 4,000,000-man Army by approving and sending to President Roosevelt legislation requiring the registration of all men from 18 to 64 years old, inclusive, and making those from 20 to 44, inclusive, subject to military service.

Full General Rank Bestowed On MacArthur

Only Pershing Had Held
Status as Wartime Field
Commander.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A grateful nation today conferred the rank of full general on Douglas MacArthur, 61-year-old once-retired soldier who has conducted a gallant and adroit defense of the Philippines with slender military resources.

President Roosevelt sent to the senate a recommendation for promotion of MacArthur from lieutenant-general to the rank which has been held by only one other American field commander in wartime, General John J. Pershing, leader of the World War I.

E. F. Casting aside customary routine, the senate unanimously confirmed the nomination a few hours later. The son of a soldier (his father was Lieutenant General Arthur MacArthur and he was born at Little Rock, Ark., Army post), MacArthur was graduated from West Point in 1903 with the Academy's best scholastic record in 25 years.

He commanded an Army division in France in 1917-18, but his military career seemed to have reached a climax with service from 1920-35 as Chief of Staff.

In the latter post, it was his unhappy duty to chase the bonus marchers out of Washington during President Hoover's administration. He did that job with a characteristic thoroughness which brought considerable criticism, but when he retired in 1937 President Roosevelt told him, "your record in war and peace is a brilliant chapter in American history."

That was a sentence with which to close the book, but retirement was not for MacArthur. President Quezon of the newly formed Philippine commonwealth asked him to organize defense forces for the islands.

MacArthur was busy at that job.

Officials at Selective Service headquarters said the registration probably would not begin before "several weeks." Although the new draft bill makes possible an Army of at least 4,000,000, there is no way of telling whether that many men will ever be called to the colors. Secretary of War Stimson has said increases in the Army would be ordered "in the light of the strategic situation as it develops."

Both houses agreed speedily on compromise amendments to the Selective Service act which War Department officials said would make a total of 2,215,000 men available in the next few months, in addition to the 1,800,000 now in uniform.

915,000 Men.

This included, experts said, 915,000 men from 21 through 35 already registered and listed as immediately available in Class 1-A. They estimated the new bill would provide an additional 600,000 Class 1-A registrants from among 20-year-olds; 400,000 in the ages 36 through 44, and 300,000 who have reached the age of 21 since the last registration was held.

By compromising on a minimum age of 20 for active service—a year younger than the house desired and a year older than the senate had voted—congress cut off an additional supply of 600,000 potential soldiers.

But with 100,000 youths turning 20 every month, congressional leaders said there was every reason to believe that the Army would get all of the men it could equip and train as fast as it could handle them. Under recently approved legislation the Navy could obtain up to 50,000 of the selectees and the Marines 10,000.

Registration of 23,500,000 men would be undertaken under terms of the bill calling for the listing of all males from 18 through 64. Added to the 17,500,000 already registered this would give Selective Service officials records on 41,000,000.

Making Preparations.

Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, informed congress that his staff was making preparations to begin registrations within the new age limits. Registrations will be taken in age classifications at the discretion of President Roosevelt, with those subject to active service expected to be listed first. Hershey said that men in the latter groups would be added to the lists of those already classified under the 21 through 35 age limits and thus become subject to the draft along with them.

New Pipeline Dedicated at Chattahoochee

Another Petroleum
Shortage Predicted on Atlantic Coast.

A new petroleum shortage along the Atlantic coast as a result of the transfer of Atlantic oil tankers to the Pacific war zone was predicted yesterday by Representative William P. Cole Jr., of Maryland, as the new 456-mile South-eastern Pipeline was dedicated at Chattahoochee, nine miles from Atlanta.

Cole said he regretted that recent efforts to extend additional lines into the east had been rejected. "I see ahead with such certainty," he said, "that I am willing to speculate upon the early use in the Pacific of tankers moved from the Atlantic services in numbers greater than those recently returned by the British, thereby presenting a condition similar to that of a few months ago, and showing a real demand for additional transportation facilities in the eastern part of the United States."

Cole, the author of a bill by which congress granted pipeline companies the right to condemn private property for projects deemed by the President as vital to national defense, spoke in an open air ceremony to some 600 public and business officials of Georgia, Florida and Tennessee. The pipeline, the first in this strategic area, runs from Port St. Joe, Fla., through Georgia to Chattanooga, Tenn., with terminals and distribution facilities at Bainbridge, Albany, Americus, Macon, Griffin, Atlanta and Chattanooga.

Howard Marshall, of Washington, chief counsel for the Office of Petroleum-Co-Ordination, described the line as "one of the main arteries through which courses the life blood of modern war."

Three military posts, Fort Benning, were also present.

Christmas Prayers To Ask Strength To Protect Democracy.

By HAROLD MARTIN.

In all Atlanta churches tomorrow a people who prayed for peace for years will pray at last for the power to fight more fiercely than man has ever fought before.

In a world where few church doors may open now, and where few prayers may rise except in secret, they will plead for the strength to strike, to endure, and not to yield until victory has been won.

They stand before Armageddon without fear, sure in the faith that righteousness will be their shield, and justice their triumphant sword. They know they fight for all those things men hold most dear, which in other lands have been destroyed.

For freedom to worship as they please, for freedom to write and speak, and think, as their own hearts dictate. For the right to teach their children honor, tolerance, and the pity for the weak that the Prince of Peace Himself taught. In short, for the American way of life.

For the right to live their life

Thousands of Enemy Agents Are Active in Southern Continent

Committee Bases Report on First-Hand Air Survey of 16 Latin-American Nations.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—In a startling report on Axis espionage and propaganda in Latin-America, a house committee asserted today that thousands of German, Italian and Japanese agents are active there and have established air bases, arms depots and jungle radio stations.

The committee, a special aircraft investigating group headed by Representative Nichols, Democrat, Oklahoma, based its report on a first-hand air survey of 16 Latin-American nations which covered 21,000 miles.

As a major step toward combatting these activities, the committee urged that the State Department speedily complete negotiations to supplant German and Italian commercial air lines in Latin-America with American companies.

Nichols said if these negotiations were not quickly concluded he would discuss the question on the house floor in an effort to bring the matter to a head.

Many On Alert.

The report declared that while many thoughtful Latin Americans were on the alert to recognize and counteract Nazi, Fascist, and Falangist influence, the "subversive forces are strong, and their continuance has a very direct and harmful effect upon inter-American aviation."

Saying their information came from "authoritative sources," the committee dealt at length with spy and propaganda activity in seven countries—Argentina, Peru, Chile, Mexico, Colombia, Guatemala, and Brazil.

As for Argentina, the report said there were 2,200 German Gestapo agents operating in Buenos Aires alone and there was "evidence to believe that a large contingent of storm troopers has been organized and that secret drilling is now in progress."

56 Districts.

The city of more than 2,000,000, the report added, had been divided into 56 districts, with ten cells in each district, all of which "are carefully patrolled and supervised by the Nazi organization."

The Germany embassy in Buenos Aires, it said, operates its own printing plant and only recently "it printed the speeches delivered by a United States senator and by Charles A. Lindbergh, compiled these speeches in a green brochure, and gave them wide distribution in Argentina to impress people there with the fact that disunity exists in the United States."

It said there were 90,000 active Nazis operating in Buenos Aires, that they had infiltrated into trade unions and charitable organizations, and there was reason to believe they had perfected plans to sabotage utilities. In a crisis, they probably could establish an operating base there, it added.

Regarding Peru, the report said there were 22,000 registered Japanese in Lima and that the actual number probably exceeds 30,000; that the Nazis are "very active" in the country, and that two Lima newspapers, El Comercio and La Prensa, appear to have "definite Fascist leanings."

Troopers Drill. Chile: "There is reason to believe that storm troopers are drilling in Chile. The very best diplomats from Germany, Spain and Italy are now co-ordinating their activities in Chile in order to break down the cordial relationship."

British Battle Mammoth Odds On Hongkong

Single Japanese Plane
Sank English Warship,
Tokyo Claims.

By The Associated Press.

A last-stand garrison of British, Canadian and native troops was believed to be fighting on at separate strongpoints on Hongkong island last night against an overpowering force of Japanese invaders.

There had been no word from the defenders of the century-old crown colony since early morning, and officials refused to confirm or deny Japanese reports that it was substantially in Japanese hands.

The Axis reports themselves were confusing and contradictory. At about the same time enemy broadcasts claimed (a) that Hongkong's capital city of Victoria was occupied by the invaders, the defenders withdrawing to Victoria Hill, (b) that the fighting on Hongkong Island still "overshadows that in other sectors." The former broadcast was German; the latter Japanese.

Fight Without Hope.

The garrison fought without hope of reinforcement or retreat. Its force had been split and dispersed in several areas to cover separate landings of Japanese assault troops, and the battle, apparently, was going on over a considerable terrain.

Meanwhile, a single Japanese army plane has sunk a British warship, believed to be a cruiser, at anchor south of Hongkong Island, scoring two direct hits, a dispatch from a "Japanese army base" said.

In the Singapore sector the British have beaten the Japanese offensive in northwestern Malaya down to a substantial halt and the imperial garrison of the outflanked island settlement of Penang off the west coast has been safely withdrawn to aid in the continued defense of the distant approaches to Singapore.

This was the situation last night as described in official British announcements and it thus appeared that the fall of Penang—inevitable under the circumstances—had been far from a total loss.

Its military strength remained

Judas Iscariot's confession of treachery—Jesus before Governor Pontius Pilate—An account of the last days.

CHAPTER THE TENTH.

After a short time, Peter and another disciple took heart and secretly followed the guard to the house of Calaphas the high priest, whither Jesus was taken, and where the Scribes and others were assembled to question Him. Peter stood at the door, but the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went in and, presently returning, asked the woman, who kept the door, to admit Peter, too. She, looking at him, said, "Are you not one of the disciples?" He said, "I am not." So she let him in; and he stood before a fire that was there, warming himself, among the servants and officers who were crowded round it. For it was very cold. Some of these men asked him the same question as the woman had done, and said, "Are you not one of the disciples?" He again denied it, and said, "I am not." One of them, who was related to that man whose ear Peter had cut off with his sword, said, "Did I not see you in the garden with Him?" Peter again denied it with an oath, and said, "I do not know the man." Immediately the cock crew, and Jesus, turning round, looked steadfastly at Peter. Then Peter remembered what He had said—that before the cock crew, he would deny Him thrice—and went out, and wept bitterly.

Among other questions that were put to Jesus, the high priest asked Him what He had taught the people. To which He answered that He had taught them in the open day, and in the open streets, and that the priests should ask the people what they had learned of Him. One of the officers struck Jesus with his hand

Nazi Division Trapped, Wiped Out to Last Man, Reds Report

Soviet Forces Storm, Regain Several Towns

German Casualties Placed at 37,000 During 10 Days of Fighting.

MOSCOW, Saturday, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Red armies pursuing retreating Germans through the snows of the Moscow front have wiped out Adolf Hitler's 134th division to the last man and in 10 days of fighting preceding this action killed and wounded 22,000 other Nazis, the Russians announced today.

This would represent a total of 37,000 Germans killed, wounded or captured in the latest successes reported by the Russians, since a German division normally has 15,000 men.

A special announcement broadcast by the Moscow radio told of the enormous casualties inflicted upon the backtracking Nazis between December 7 and 17. The regular midnight communique reported destruction of the 134th division in a trap west of Moscow and the recapture of numerous villages and towns there and on the northwest and southwest.

German losses in equipment equalled their casualties, the special announcement said, listing 319 tanks, more than 3,700 trucks and huge quantities of other motorized equipment, and guns destroyed in the 10-day period.

The Germans were declared encircled by Soviet forces which drove west and southwest of Moscow, took by storm the town of Ruzsa, 60 miles due west of the capital, and cut west of the important rail junction of Kaluga, 90 miles southwest, taking several villages, Tarnost, 65 miles south of Moscow and 40 miles northeast of Kaluga, and the town of Kanino southeast of Kaluga also were reported captured.

The general of the 134th Nazi division was killed, the communique said.

"Not a German escaped," a communique said.

Desperate Fight.
The Russians said seven Nazi divisions of perhaps 105,000 men had put up desperate resistance south of Ruzsa but that Red forces got the upper hand in one mighty assault after another.

Kaluga is an important rail junction on the line running south to Bryansk and Kiev. It was here that the Germans had concentrated one of their strongest forces in their now thwarted drive upon Moscow. Moreover, German troops retreating from Tula had fallen back toward Kaluga, now partly encircled.

(German official radio broadcasts admitted the Russians had penetrated Nazi eastern defenses at some points, but contended they were quickly dislodged by counterattacks. DNB, the German news agency, admitted

Senate Passes E. A. L. To Buy $550,000,000 11 New Liners Housing Bill During 1942

$48,000,000 Will Go for Relief of Filipinos.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The senate approved and sent to the White House today a $550,000,000 appropriations bill containing $450,000,000 for defense housing and community facilities, as well as approximately $48,000,000 for relief and civilian defense of the Philippines.

Included also was $35,000,000 to stock the Hawaiian islands with food supplies and $15,000,000 for civilian defense and relief work in Alaska, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

The bill would make $36,608,000 in Philippine sugar taxes collected up to September 30, plus collections since that date, available along with $10,000,000 already sent to the island government by the President, for defense and relief work there.

Reds Open Drive Against Finns.

LONDON, Saturday, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Russians have opened a major offensive along the entire Finnish front, taking advantage of weakened opposition caused by the German army's withdrawal of three-fifths of its troops it originally deployed there, British reports said today.

"Dense waves" of Russian cavalry and ski troops were reported thrown into the assault with the support of guns and tanks especially designed for rigorous warfare on this frozen front.

A Stockholm dispatch to the News-Chronicle said Finnish lines buckling under the impact of the initial Soviet thrusts had been withdrawn to the north bank of the Svir river at some points between Lake Ladoga and Lake Onega.

Other dispatches said the Germans left the Finns ill-prepared to meet the slashing Red army offensive and that the Nazis remaining there "are feeling the anger which has reinforced Finnish contempt for the Finns realize to what extent the German high command has been using them as a puppet power."

Saving of Waste Paper Urged by Tobacco Lions

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION
TOCCOA, Ga., Dec. 19.—At the regular meeting held this week the Tobacco Lions Club passed a resolution urging the saving of all waste paper and cardboard for the War Department. The Department is urgently in need of waste paper and cardboard for national defense and all citizens are urged to save their supply until a means of collecting it is established, it was pointed out.

A report was also given at the meeting by Secretary Corbin Smith, on recently adopted resolutions asking congressional members from Georgia to act to have some of the $28,000,000 in NYA funds, recently impounded, released. Letters from Georgia congressmen and senators promised "immediate recognition" of the Lions Club's request, growing out of predictions of vast cuts in educational programs in Georgia, unless the funds impounded are made available through next April, as originally planned by schools involved.

Labor Parley Is Stalemated On Strike Ban

Union Shop Issue Said Chief Stumbling Block.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt did not get the thrill tonight that he had asked his war labor conference to give him, for the industry and worker representatives broke off their discussions temporarily without working out a formula insuring no strikes during the war.

And, as it had been in numerous recent labor disputes, the union shop issue was said to be the chief stumbling block to reaching an agreement. The negotiations will be resumed Monday, however, and William H. Davis, the conference moderator, expressed hope they would yet be successful.

Davis' confidence in the conference all day that the union and management officials had not found a workable solution for handling future union shop demands. He told reporters at the conclusion of the conference that the union shop difficulty had not been removed.

Under a union shop—chief issue in the recently settled captive coal mine dispute—a company's employees must eventually join the union which has a collective bargaining majority in the plant.

The six CIO and six AFL representatives on the conference committee, long at odds on many questions, were said to have agreed that any mediating board which the conference might recommend should be authorized to pass upon the union shop question whenever it arose in wartime disputes. The industrialists were said to be insisting that the union shop question be set aside for the duration, except in instances where such a shop already is in existence or in cases where it could be agreed upon by direct negotiation between employers and unions.

The labor people were reported to favor establishment of a mediation board somewhat similar to that in operation during the first World War.

British Seize Airport at Derna As Rout of Axis Units Continues

CAIRO, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Flying spearheads of the British eighth army raced 200 miles deep in the Libyan desert tonight behind fleeing Axis forces in an relentless pursuit which netted the big airport of Derna and threatened to envelop all the coastal highlands on the hump of Cirenaica.

The advance was at such tremendous speed that British general headquarters brushed aside tabulation of captures behind the front lines on the former battlefield of Gazala, and announced: "All attention at the moment is being concentrated on maintaining relentless pressure upon the retreating enemy."

The flight of the German and Italian fighting forces had obviously forked: One force perhaps preparing a rearguard action at the port of Derna itself, which the enemy still held at last reports; the other plunging southwest through Mekkili to try to skirt the coastal highlands and reach Bengasi, main Axis base.

But British tanks were harrying the enemy's heels in both areas of pursuit and ahead of the tanks was a hard-hitting British air force.

"Our pursuit of the remaining enemy forces toward Derna and also around and beyond Mekkili continued through yesterday," said a communique.

"By nightfall the Derna air-drome was in our hands, but enemy troops still were in occupation of Derna itself and also were in the Mekkili area."

"Yesterday's bomber effort was the heaviest since operations began. Repeated attacks were made on enemy columns on roads leading to Derna and west of Mekkili."

British sources stressed the importance of capture of the Derna airport, about 10 miles southeast of Derna, saying it was on elevated ground from which artillery can command the coastal highway zone.

Disclosure that the British had bombed and destroyed part of an oil tank train near Zuara, western terminus of the railway of Tripoli, made observers think the Axis was getting oil supplies from French Tunisia and sending them east.

Royal Air Force headquarters reported incessant harassment of the westward Axis retreat, relating that much motor transport was smashed and heavy casualties inflicted on Axis troops. Many Axis planes were reported destroyed both in the sky and on the ground. Bengasi again was bombed and a tanker was hit and probably sunk out at sea.

Ground forces had captured more than a dozen Axis airfields containing 200 German and Italian planes.

Government Long Distance Calls Must Come First

The immediate availability of Long Distance telephone facilities is vital to the communication needs of our government. We urge everyone who plans to exchange the season's greetings by Long Distance telephone, to please refrain from making these calls on Christmas or New Year's Day.

The Long Distance telephone is already playing a major role in America's all-out war effort. Government Long Distance telephone requirements, both civilian and military, have stepped up sharply. Industrial plants engaged in defense production, radio networks and news services are relying more and more upon the speedy contacts made possible by the Long Distance telephone—

Therefore we urgently appeal to you to help keep Long Distance lines clear, on Christmas and New Year's Day, that we may efficiently serve our Nation, unhampered by calls of a non-essential character.

2 Doctors Blame Flies for Warm Weather Polio

Flies are the probable reason for infantile paralysis epidemics occurring in warm weather, Doctors Albert B. Sabin and Robert Ward reported yesterday in Science, official journal of American scientists, but the report was received with skepticism here by State Epidemiologist Dr. Dan Bowdoin.

Much of the research done by Doctors Sabin and Ward was in Atlanta during the polio epidemic last summer in which 732 Georgians were stricken. Dr. Bowdoin was in close touch with the research men then.

The report of Doctors Sabin and Ward, of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine and the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, pointed out that one of the greatest puzzles about polio has been its late summer peaks and the fact the first frost or cold weather brings a sharp drop in cases.

Miami Epidemic. "This may be true in northern climates," Dr. Bowdoin said, "but this does not explain the Miami epidemic beginning in May and being over in July or our own epidemic which began last June and was over in early September—both long before we had cold weather in the south."

Doctors, since the great New York polio epidemic of 1916, have been attempting to prove the fly is the carrier of the virus. Last October Yale physicians announced flies do carry infantile paralysis infection and the Sabin-Ward report extends the discovery, showing flies were infected with the disease in widely scattered areas of the United States, and that these flies were in neighborhoods where children had infantile paralysis. The places were Connecticut, Alabama, Cleveland and Atlanta.

In Atlanta, polio flies were caught both near the center of the city and the outskirts. Several bushels of flies, of all varieties, were caught in Atlanta, principally in Negro sections where sanitary conditions were poor, Dr. Bowdoin said.

The experiments have proven that flies can carry polio, the report showed, but there has been no indication as to whether the flies are mere mechanical carriers or whether the virus actually multiplies in the fly. Dr. Bowdoin said, stressing the public must not consider the findings too seriously until this has been determined. He also pointed out that the type fly that is the alleged carrier has not been isolated.

Dr. J. F. Hackney, city health officer, said Dr. Sabin reported his findings to Atlanta doctors in a speech last week. Dr. Hackney expressed Sabin was on the right track, but said medical value of the discovery would have to be determined after more complete investigation.

Lillian Starr, director of publicity in Georgia for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the Foundation was acquainted with the paper and knew it was to be printed, but since it was technical and not written for the lay public, and consequently the Foundation had no releases to make in connection with the report.

York Leaves City After Busy Visit

Sergeant Alvin C. York, the World War hero, left for Chattanooga, Tenn., last night after a busy day in Atlanta which included firing the first shot in the opening of a new rifle range, visiting old Camp Gordon and Veterans' Hospital No. 48, and being entertained at luncheon at the Biltmore hotel.

Speaking at the luncheon, given by members of the rifle range firm, York predicted the end of the war some time in 1943.

"We will win because we are fighting according to the dictates of our own consciences," he told the group of businessmen, ministers and public officials. Prayer, he added, is the greatest weapon Christian forces can use in any war.

U.S. To Launch Two Warships At Charleston

Sleek, 1,700-Ton Destroyers Will Slide Down Ways Today.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Two sleek warships, side by side in the building ways at the Charleston Navy Yard, will slide down the ways tomorrow in the first dual launching of destroyers in the south.

The new 1,700-ton destroyers, the Tillman and the Beatty, will be the fourth and fifth destroyers launched at the Charleston yard this year. Two more destroyers are now in advanced construction here.

Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh, N. C., former Secretary of the Navy, and Rear Admiral William H. Allen, commandant of the Sixth and Seventh Naval districts and of the Charleston Navy Yard, will speak at the ceremony.

Full General Rank Bestowed On MacArthur

when war clouds formed in the Far East and President Roosevelt recalled him to active service and placed him in charge of the Far Eastern Army command into which all Philippine forces were inducted.

The rest is a new chapter—brilliantly started but not yet finished. As a full general, MacArthur would have equal rank with any military officer British or other Allies might assign to the Far East.

Although Pershing is the only field officer to hold this rank heretofore in war-time, nine others have received it in peace-time, either in active service or after their retirement.

In recent years the rank has been enjoyed temporarily by the War Department chief of staff while he held that post. General George C. Marshall, the present chief of staff, is the only other general.

Other Generals. Aside from MacArthur and Marshall, War Department records list these four-starred generals:

Ulysses S. Grant, July 25, 1866, to March 4, 1869; William T. Sherman, March 4, 1869, to February 8, 1884; Philip H. Sheridan, June 1, 1888, to August 5, 1888; John J. Pershing, October 6, 1917, to September 3, 1919, on emergency status. He was retired September 13, 1924, with the unique rank and title of general of the Armies of the United States.

Tasker H. Bliss, October 6, 1917, to May 19, 1918, (retroactive by 1930 act of congress).

Peyton C. March, May 20, 1918, to June 30, 1920, (retroactive by 1930 act).

Charles P. Summerall, February 23, 1929, to November 20, 1930, as chief of staff.

Douglas MacArthur, November 21, 1930, to October 1, 1935, as chief of staff.

Malin Craig, October 2, 1935, to August 31, 1939, as chief of staff. George Washington, records show, held the rank of general and commander-in-chief of the Continental Army, 1775-1783. He lost the rank, however, when the federal constitution was adopted, but was appointed lieutenant general and commander-in-chief, July 3, 1789. Congress established the office of general in 1799, but records are lacking to show that it was ever conferred on Washington.

Temporary Boost In Freight Urged

Fear of government ownership of railroads during the emergency if the carriers are flatly denied any increase in freight rates was expressed yesterday during a meeting of the board of governors of the Southern Traffic League which formally approved any temporary increase the Interstate Commerce Commission might deem necessary, provided the boost is made permanent.

The railroads have asked for a general 10 per cent increase in rates to offset wage increases, which will run to approximately $350,000,000. The ICC will hear the case in Chicago January 5.

Public service commissioners, including Georgia's Chairman Walter McDonald, urged the league to take no definite stand on the proposed increase.

A. J. Rife, of Birmingham, proposed the ICC give carriers a temporary four months' increase if their case warranted it, and then allow shippers to present their arguments at another hearing before the increase is made permanent.

British Sink Six Italian Ships; 5,000 Drowned, 1,000 Rescued

TUNIS, French Tunisia, Dec. 15.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Five thousand Italian seamen and troops apparently en route to Libya were drowned December 12 when British naval units sank two Italian cruisers, a destroyer and three transports in a fierce night fight off Cape Bon on the Tunisian coast.

Approximately 1,000 Italians suffering from severe burns, exposure and other injuries were rescued. They are being treated here and at Kelibia, Menzel, Te-mime and other towns along the coast.

The Italian cruisers reported sunk were the 5,000-ton ships Alberto di Gussano and Alberico da Barbiano, launched in 1930. All of the 1,200 sailors aboard the two cruisers were said to have lost their lives. The other casualties mainly were aboard the transports.

The British admiralty announced last Saturday the apparent destruction of an entire flotilla of Italian ships, including three destroyers, by British and Dutch destroyers and submarines. London naval circles expressed belief that the Italians have only 11 cruisers of the 32 built or building at the start of the war.

A submarine attack apparently preceded the main engagement, then the British destroyers, Sikh, Legion and Maori, and the Dutch Isaac Sweers raced in to finish the heavier armed Italian convoy with a storm of shell and torpedo fire.

One of the cruisers was seen to blow up, and another was left blazing from stem to stern, the admiralty said. Three torpedo hits on a third was reported by the submarine command.

ROME, Dec. 19.—(Official Broadcast Recorded by (AP))—The Italian high command claimed today that five British cruisers had been attacked by Axis torpedo planes in the Mediterranean but did not state whether any were sunk.

(The German high command reported a British cruiser of the 7,270-ton Leander class had been sunk off Alexandria.)

Lisbon Denies Threat of Jap Blow at Timor

Situation Is Not Settled Yet, Premier Tells Parliament.

LISBON, Dec. 19.—(P)—Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar told his parliament and people today that Australian and Dutch troops "invaded" Portuguese Timor without the threat of a Japanese attack, and while mutual defense discussions were under way.

Although this speech had been forecast as one of Salazar's most important statements, he gave no hint of drastic change in Portuguese policy as a result of the occupation.

"The situation is not settled yet," he said, "and discussions still are going on. I shall disclose later the further developments."

Australian and Dutch forces have occupied the Portuguese part of the Far Eastern island to anticipate any Japanese action in Timor. Salazar said the first suggestions for collaboration on defense were made on November 4.

"Portugal agreed to study co-operation with British troops in defense of Timor in case it was attacked, and according to the terms of the (British) alliance," he told the national assembly which had been called into extraordinary session to hear his statement.

"We would also have accepted the co-operation of Dutch troops under the command of the British general staff, but exclusively in case of attack."

ITALIAN PAPER WARNS PORTUGAL

Emulate Pearl Harbor Heroes, Knox Tells Graduating Middies

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 19.—(P)—A new name—Pearl Harbor—was added to the United States "Rosary of Memory" today by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

Speaking before the 574 graduating midshipmen at the U. S. Naval Academy, Knox said "there are names which are fragrant in our memories whenever we think of American courage and American fighting spirit. Valley Forge and Belleau Wood, Bunker Hill and Mobile Bay, Gettysburg and Chateau Thierry."

"Today we have a new pearl to add to the Rosary of Memory: Pearl Harbor."

The Secretary told the second class to graduate this year under the Academy's new accelerated course.

"You are going out into active service at a time when all that you have learned here will be put to the test—the supreme test of war. Millions of young men would like to be in your place. . . . When the day of battle comes—and for most of you it will in all possibility come soon—you must be fit and ready. Your comrades at Pearl Harbor have shown that they were physically ready when their hour of trial arrived.

"It will be your task to emulate their achievements. And it will not be an easy task. When the full story is told, Pearl Harbor will be permanently enshrined in our national traditions as an example of heroism and devotion to duty."

When Midshipman Isaac C. Kidd Jr., of Long Beach, Calif., stepped to the rostrum for his diploma, Knox whispered words of encouragement to him. Kidd's father, a rear admiral, was killed in action at Pearl Harbor December 7.

Proud parents, relatives and friends of graduates in packed Dahlgren Hall, gave the graduating class a thunderous ovation after graduates hurried their white caps high into the air.

Before caps were tossed, the entire regiment—the largest in Academy history—gave the traditional three cheers for "those about to leave us." Graduates, in full dress blues, responded with three cheers for "those we leave behind us."

Commissions later were conferred upon 519 graduates, 495 becoming ensigns in the Navy and 24 second lieutenants in the Marine Corps. Twenty-six graduates were honorably discharged, but some may be commissioned ensigns in the naval reserve later.

The new officers went on leave and will report for active duty later. Christmas leave for the regiment begins tomorrow and ends January 3.

Axis Arms Caches in South America Bared

A Japanese colony, located approximately 30 miles from the city of Cali, on the Pacific side of the Andes, has become a veritable storehouse for rifles, ammunition, pistols and hand grenades, all of which were imported under the misleading appellation of farm machinery.

This colony, ostensibly working a 2,000 acre bean farm, is surrounded "with a wire fence which is electrically charged."

Guatemala: "If was represented to the committee by American authorities that 60 per cent of all the coffee plantations are owned and operated by Nazis. . . . A number of these short-wave stations have been actually confiscated by the Mexican government at the instance of the United States officers."

"The committee has reason to believe that merchant vessel departures from the United States across the Atlantic have been communicated in code to Mexico City and then by short-wave transmitted to Nazi authorities in Germany."

Gestapo Head. "It is believed that the German ambassador in Mexico City is the head of the Gestapo for the North American continent. It is known that women spies are very widely used for the purpose of procuring information of diplomatic and military value."

Columbia: "There is reason to believe that photographs of Colombia now repose in the military archives of Germany" through use of German pilots for many years on the Scudra air line.

"It was represented to the committee by competent persons that the Gestapo has set up its own secret code system in Guatemala, and that violators and offenders of Nazi law, Nazi regulations, and of Nazi philosophy are tried and punished."

Brazil: "It is understood by the committee that the former chief pilot of the Scudra line, a German Army air force reserve officer, has settled with one or more of his aides, and established an airport (in the northern section of the Amazon basin) possibly equipped with radio."

The report said on the bulge of Brazil where Axis planes arrive from Dakar, West Africa, the former line Air France has extensive airport and radio facilities, as has the German line Luftthansa now used by Lufi.

"Additional radio directional equipment is installed on the rocky island Fernando de Noronha, approximately 200 miles offshore in the direction of Dakar."

"These men, or their contact in each group, all of their competitors and together will plan for contributions which adequately will represent the interest of these groups, it was pointed out."

As the campaign gained momentum, contributions came in from many sources. From the B-Y-O Club came $26, which included a defense savings bond. The Flower Study Club sent in a contribution consisting of all the money in the group's treasury. Pete's Lunch Room at 260 Parkway drive, operated by Mrs. S. D. Motran, announced proceeds taken in December 22 will be turned in to the Red Cross fund.

intact, perhaps to aid in strengthening the new British line along the Krian river, some 300 miles north of Singapore. Only two Europeans were left on the island —British physicians staying behind to practice under any hazard their memorial profession.

Not only was British military personnel brought out, it was stated, but all of Penang's military equipment likewise was salvaged.

Strong Dutch action against Japanese forces seeking to infiltrate into British North Borneo, strategically situated to the east of the Malay peninsula, in the Singapore-Philippine-Dutch East Indies communications and defensive area, meanwhile was reported.

The East Indies command announced during the day that Dutch bombers had assaulted the invader in Sarawak, to continue bombing attacks which previously had been successfully concentrated off shore against Japanese sea power. This earlier action had set a Japanese cruiser aflame.

Indomitable Marines. Wake Island's indomitable little garrison of United States Marines still clung tenaciously, meanwhile, to their scarred and battered atoll after beating off two more Japanese onslaughts.

This good news, with word of an intensified enemy air attack upon the Philippines—its results still unannounced—summarized the day's operations in American-held territory, as revealed in the communications of the Army and Navy.

It was supplemented, however, by an announcement in Manila, that defending forces were in complete command of the situation there, except for three small areas on which the Japs established landing parties very early in the war. So far as is known, however, they have been beaten back in every attempt to extend their positions.

Twenty-four Japanese planes made a brief, sharp attack on the big U. S. Naval base of Cavite on Manila Bay this afternoon while American fighter planes remained on the ground.

A second wave of nine raiders also flew across the bay less than two hours later, but a communiqué said there were no bombings reported after that flight.

Increase Operations. The War Department reported in a brief communiqué last night that "energy patrols increased their ground operations" in the Philippines.

At the same time awards of the distinguished service cross were announced to Second Lieutenants George S. Welch and Kenneth M. Taylor, of the Air Corps, for extraordinary heroism in action during the Japanese attack on Hawaii.

The awards were the first of a number to be given for heroism in Hawaii and the Philippines. Others will be made in the near future in accord with a policy of awarding decorations for gallantry in action as promptly as possible.

The DIXIELAND is an all Pullman train offering practically all types of Pullman accommodations, with observation-lounge cars and dining cars, all air-conditioned.

DeKalb County Gives $10,000 For Red Cross

Nearly Half of Quota of $24,000 Raised in 30 Minutes.

The drive to raise a total of $344,000 for the Red Cross in Fulton and DeKalb counties gained impetus yesterday with announcement that $10,000 of the $24,000 quota for DeKalb county was pledged within 30 minutes at a meeting Thursday night in the Candler hotel, Decatur.

It was also announced that General Motors Corporation had allocated a contribution of $2,500 to the Atlanta campaign, as part of its $500,000 contribution nationally.

Announcement of the DeKalb pledge came from Dr. J. Sam Guy, chairman of the DeKalb county Red Cross chapter, and followed a meeting attended by 150 men. Speakers included Scott Candler, chairman of the DeKalb drive; Preston S. Arkwright, chairman of the advance gifts committee, and Oby T. Brewer, chairman for Atlanta.

Contributions yesterday from school children to whom Margaret Mitchell has been speaking during the past week totaled $282.17, all of it in pennies.

A group of Atlanta businessmen also met yesterday in the campaign headquarters at 61 Forsyth street, to plan for their own drive in their field of enterprise.

These included George Faust, Theodore Forbes, W. B. Willingham, W. A. Volk, Howard Fisch, J. B. Smith, Joe High Williams, Louis F. Barth, Edwin Muford, Joel C. Harris and W. C. Harris.

These men expressed in each group, all of their competitors and together will plan for contributions which adequately will represent the interest of these groups, it was pointed out.

As the campaign gained momentum, contributions came in from many sources. From the B-Y-O Club came $26, which included a defense savings bond. Body of Youth Found on Tracks

The badly mangled body of a 19-year-old government clerk identified as Aldine Singer, of 222 Margaret street, S. E., was found yesterday morning on the Southern Railway tracks near Capitol and Ridge avenues. He apparently had been dead for several hours.

City detectives J. M. Austin and C. L. Taylor expressed the opinion he had been run over by a train, but could not determine which one of several trains, which had passed the scene. An inquest will be held.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Singer, a brother, Raymond Singer, of Columbia, S. C., and a sister, Miss Marion Singer, of Baltimore.

The body was removed to the Pruitt-Yarn Funeral Home. Funeral plans will be announced later.

Man Is Arrested On 'Letter' Charge

That letter T. G. Smithwick saw his estranged wife, Mrs. Lucile Smithwick, drop into a mailbox the other night never will do him any good at a divorce proceedings, as he admitted today.

Uncle Sam has the letter—and Smithwick, too.

Smithwick, a barber, was arrested by postal inspectors for allegedly intercepting a letter which he suspected Mrs. Smithwick was mailing to another man. According to the inspectors, the barber saw his wife mail the letter one night and the next day he called at the new post office and filed out a form claiming that it was his and asking that it be returned to him because he had placed the wrong letter in the envelope.

United States Commissioner David J. Myerhardt ordered Smithwick held under $100 bond after a preliminary hearing yesterday.

County Patrol Car Hit By Train, Driver Hurt

Marvin Baker, Fulton county patrolman, escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when his patrol car, trapped on the Central of Georgia Railroad tracks at the Arden avenue crossing near Fort McPherson, was struck by a southbound passenger train.

Baker suffered contusions and bruises on the legs and back and was treated by a private physician.

Capitol To Show Films Of Pearl Harbor Attack

First newsreel shots of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor will be shown in the Pathe-RKO newsreel opening this morning at the Capitol theater, Manager Earle Holden announced yesterday.

The pictures, passed by Army and Navy censors, show the Japanese planes over Pearl Harbor, bombs screaming down, buildings and ships afire, the rush to action by Army and Navy men, and bombs falling on Hickam Field.

There are views of the new two-man submarine which the Japs operated in the attack.

Federal Indictments Face Former German-Controlled Bodies.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(P)—A federal indictment of General Aniline & Film Corporation and two of its close associates was announced today almost at the very moment new officers of the big chemical firm, once German-controlled, made known further plans to place it more firmly in American hands.

The indictment, charging restraint in the trade and manufacture of heavy chemicals and dyestuffs, covered General Aniline, General Dyestuffs Corporation, and the giant German I. G. Farbenindustrie, and seven individuals.

General Aniline's new president, former Justice John E. Mack of the New York Supreme Court, announced the election of two new directors, Ralph Budd, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, and Robert L. Stevens, New York financier and son-in-law of Brigadier General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

William C. Bullitt, former U. S. ambassador to France, elected a director of General Aniline two weeks ago would be elected chairman, Mack added, under plans of the board. Bullitt was made a director after the resignation of William vom Rath, whose late father was vice chairman of I. G. Farbenindustrie.

General Aniline, a $62,000,000 corporation formerly known as American I. G. Chemical Corporation, is the country's second largest maker of photographic supplies, third largest dyestuff producer and the biggest maker of dyes for American Army uniforms.

The federal indictment charged the three corporations agreed to combine all their dyestuff properties in the United States into a single manufacturing company and not to compete otherwise in the manufacture or sale of dyestuffs in this country except through General Dyestuffs Corporation.

Atlantans Start Fund for Baby Of Heroic Pilot

Bonds To Be Purchased for Daughter Marett Never Sav.

Little Amy Janice Marett, 17 days old today, will never know her father.

He was killed leading a squadron of American fliers in an assault on invader naval transports attempting to land troops on the coast of Luzon—and he died without knowing that his little girl has arrived in a Texas hospital. But old friends and neighbors of 26-year-old Lieutenant Samuel Hines Marett, who formerly lived in Apartment 2, 1543 Peachtree street, are making a down payment to the little girl on the debt of gratitude which they feel the American people owe her for the loss of her father. And they are saying a difficult thing in the only tangible fashion they know—getting up a fund to buy defense bonds to be given to her.

Shortly after the Constitution reached breakfast tables yesterday two Atlantans, who read of Lieutenant Marett's death, came up to The Constitution office with cash contributions which they want to send to his little girl. Charles Wilkie gave a dollar and another person, who asked that his name be withheld, gave another.

The Constitution did not start the fund and is not asking for contributions. But if there are other Atlantans, who feel as those two that they want to present defense bonds to little Amy Janice Marett, The Constitution will receive the contributions and transmit them to the baby girl and her mother in New Braunfels, Texas.

Installment Data Deadline Is Near

W. S. McLarin Jr., of the Federal Reserve Bank, yesterday warned approximately 8,000 firms in the sixth federal district that registration statements on installment lending and selling must be filed by December 31.

Failure to file by that date will render such firms liable to penalties imposed for operation without a license, McLarin said. The licenses are being issued without charge upon receipt of the registration statement from the applicants.

Concerns in the district engaged in selling certain consumer durable goods on the installment plan or in making loans to customers repayable in installments may obtain registration blanks at the Federal Reserve Bank in Atlanta or its branches, McLarin said.

School Children Begins Holidays

Pupils in the Fulton county and Atlanta public school systems yesterday began the shortest Christmas vacation period in many years.

For the city schools, the holidays began at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. They began for the county schools at the end of yesterday's regular classes. Both systems will reopen December 29.

County School Superintendent Jere A. Wells said the one week vacation instead of the usual two was due to time lost at the beginning of the fall term because of the polio epidemic.

Board Approves 14 Road Projects

Contracts for 14 highway construction projects totalling $1,320,752 were approved yesterday by the State Highway Board.

One of these provides for the paving of Scott boulevard, cut-off from Ponce de Leon avenue between Atlanta and Decatur, to the Lawrenceville road two miles beyond Decatur. An underpass will be constructed under Clairmont road. This cut-off will shorten the distance between Atlanta and Lawrenceville, Winder and Athens.

Counties involved in the contracts were Carroll, DeKalb, Evans, Lowndes, Newton, Screven, Talbot, Thomas, and Wilkinson. Three of the projects are in Screven and two in Talbot.

Jaycees To Give Annual Yule Party Tomorrow

Annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas party for underprivileged children will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the municipal auditorium. "The Happy Hour," a Columbia Pictures Christmas short, and a Mickey Mouse short, and a K. O. will be shown with the Union Operators' Local 225 supplying operators and equipment. Gifts will be distributed after the movie program. Gus King is in charge of arrangements.

DEDICATE PIPE LINE—The 456-mile Southeastern Pipe Line, first in this section, was dedicated at Chattahoochee yesterday. Shown taking an official turn at valve is Representative William P. Cole Jr., of Maryland, principal speaker at the ceremony, Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines, and Alva Myers.

SILENT SENTINEL—Members of the State Defense Corps stood silent watch over the grounds where the dedication of the pipe line was held yesterday. Some 800 businessmen, public officials from the southeast and from New York, Washington and Chicago gathered for the ceremonies, which struck a patriotic and defense note.

ning, at Columbus, Fort McPherson, and Fort Oglethorpe, at Chattahoochee, are served by the pipe line, it was pointed out.

A. Steve Clay, grandson of Georgia's one-time Senator Steve Clay, presided as a stone marker for the line was unveiled and dedicated. Miss Minna Hecker, Atlanta singer, led the group in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the close of the program.

Senator Walter F. George, originally scheduled to speak at the dedication, could not be present because of official duties, but wired his congratulations, declaring the line is a "great defense project."

Later in the afternoon he spoke two minutes over the Columbia Broadcasting System from Washington in connection with the dedication. Those present for the program included Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines; Samuel Pettengill, former congressman from Indiana; Edward A. Kelly, congressman from Illinois; Pehr G. Holmes, congressman from Massachusetts; Elton J. Layton, clerk of the committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, in Washington, and many petroleum company and airline representatives from Chicago and New York in addition to Georgia officials.

Opportunity No. 13

A skilled workman, who earned a good living until he had an accident a few months ago, is the father of two children. He is broke and ill. His wife, a good mother, has no experience in holding a job and at 44 has little chance of getting one.

Those are the brief reasons why Mr. and Mrs. L. and their children, Tommy, 15, and Mabel, 12, are your Christmas Opportunity No. 13 in the annual campaign sponsored by The Constitution in co-operation with the Family Welfare Society.

This family needs $30 a month badly to make sure that Mr. L. will have a chance to recover from his injury and get back to work. He is such a good workman that his employer, for whom he had worked several years, is holding his job for him.

Those kids are in school, and Tommy plays football and Mabel is getting to be quite a young lady. The amount needed by this family is mighty small for the needs of four people but it will mean the difference as to whether Mr. L. can make it, or not.

He smashed some ribs in the accident and complications developed. He sent long weeks in a hospital. He is out now, but cannot go back to work immediately.

Mr. L. needs help only until he can return to his job. Atlantans could and should help him. We believe they will. Help make Mr. L.'s Christmas as happy as yours will be, by sending a gift to the Opportunity fund. His skill is needed in the defense of our nation!

need help on the whole world front! Slip a dime to the "Mile of Dimes" and see it grow, every day!

The men who set the type for this newspaper are very modest about their contribution to the Opportunity families. They "adopted" one last Christmas, and saw it through to independence, and helped another family on its way, too.

They are "adopting" another family this Christmas. But they don't want their names mentioned. All there is to say is, "Thanks."

This is the second year also that the Salvation Army's "Mile of Dimes" has helped rehabilitate Opportunity families. Its contribution also saw one family become completely self-supporting and another helped over the toughest pull.

Isn't that worthwhile giving? Do your part, too, in this effort to make job-holding persons out of men and women who have been knocked over by illness, injury, death or desertion. Mail or bring a gift this Christmas to the Opportunity fund—you give but the whole community benefits and there will always be men and women and boys and girls grateful for your help.

The Life of Our Lord By Charles Dickens

for this reply; and two false witnesses coming in said they had heard Him say that He could destroy the Temple of God and build it again in three days. Jesus answered little, but the Scribes and priests agreed that He was guilty of blasphemy and should be put to death; and they spat upon and beat Him.

When Judas Iscariot saw that his Master was indeed condemned, he was so full of horror for what he had done that he took the 30 pieces of silver back to the chief priests and said, "I have betrayed innocent blood! I cannot keep it!" With those words, he threw the money down upon the floor, and rushing away, wild with despair, hanged himself. The rope, being weak, broke with the weight of his body, and it fell down on the ground, after death, all bruised and burst—a dreadful sight to see! The chief priests, not knowing what to do with the 30 pieces of silver, bought a burying-place for strangers with it, the proper name of which was the Potters' Field. But the people called it the Field of Blood, ever afterwards.

Jesus was taken from the high priests to the judgment hall where Pontius Pilate, the Governor, sat, to administer justice. Pilate (who was not a Jew) said to Him: "Your own nation, the Jews, and your own priests have delivered you to me. What have you done?" Finding that He had done no harm, Pilate went out and told the Jews so; but they said, "He has been teaching the people what is not true and what is wrong; and He began to do so, long ago, in Galilee." As Herod had the right to punish people who offended against the law in Galilee, Pilate said, "I find no wrong in Him. Let Him be taken before Herod!"

They carried Him accordingly before Herod, where he sat surrounded by his stern soldiers and men in armour. And these laughed at Jesus, and dressed Him, in mockery, in a fine robe, and sent Him back to Pilate. And Pilate called the priest and people together again, and said, "I find no wrong in this man; neither does Herod. He has done nothing to deserve death." But they cried out, "He has! He has! Yes, yes! Let Him be killed!"

Pilate was troubled in his mind to hear them so clamorous against Jesus Christ. His wife, too, had dreamed all night about it, and sent to him upon the judgment seat, saying, "Have nothing to do with that man!" As it was the custom at the Feast of Passover to give some prisoner his liberty, Pilate endeavored to persuade the people to ask for the release of Jesus. But they said (being very ignorant and passionate, and being told to do so, by the priests), "No, no, we will not have Him released. Release Barabbas, and let this man be crucified!"

Barabbas was a wicked criminal, in jail for his crimes, and in danger of being put to death.

Pilate, finding the people so determined against Jesus, delivered Him to the soldiers to be scourged—that is, beaten. They plaited a crown of thorns, and put it on His head, and dressed Him in a purple robe, and spat upon Him, and struck Him with their hands, and said, "Hail, King of the Jews!"—remembering that the crowd had called Him the Son of David when He entered into Jerusalem. And they ill-used Him in many cruel ways; but Jesus bore it patiently, and only said, "Father! Forgive them! They know not what they do!"

Once more, Pilate brought Him out before the people, dressed in the purple robe and crown of thorns, and said, "Behold the man!" They cried out, savagely, "Crucify Him! Crucify Him!" So did the chief priests and officers. "Take Him and crucify Him yourselves," said Pilate. "I find no fault in Him." But they cried out, "He called Himself the Son of God; and that, by the Jewish law, is death!—And He called Himself King of the Jews; and that is against the Roman law, for we have no king but Caesar, who is the Roman emperor. If you let Him go, you are not Caesar's friend. Crucify Him! Crucify Him!"

When Pilate saw that he could not prevail with them, however hard he tried, he called for water, and washing his hands before

10,000 Asked To Move Out Of Washington

Many U. S. Workers To Be Transferred to Other Cities.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today ordered 10,000 government workers to move out of Washington to make room for defense employees.

The President's order was made public by Budget Director Harold D. Smith, who said those to move will be drawn from the approximately 11,000 employees of 12 federal agencies.

The employees will be moved to St. Louis, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Smith said "further studies are being made to determine what other employees can be moved out of Washington. This is just the first batch."

The new transfers and the approximate number of employees involved in each case follow:

St. Louis—Rural Electrification Administration, 1,100, and Farm Security Administration, 900.
New York—Patent office, 1,400.
Chicago—Fish and Wildlife Service, 375; National Park Service, 175; Office of Indian Affairs, 300; Railroad Retirement Board, 1,600; Employees' Compensation Commission, 500.

Philadelphia—Alien Registration, Certification and Research Divisions of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, 950; Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance of the Social Security Board, 1,750, and Securities and Exchange Commission, 1,400.

Pittsburgh—Wage and Hour Division and part of the solicitor's office of Labor Department, 550.

City Saves $14.01 In Pay Roll Check

The eagle eyes of City Comptroller B. Graham West and Personnel Director Stafford W. Graydon yesterday had saved the city treasury $14.01 in pay roll accounts, but J. W. Smith, employee of the school maintenance department and a supernumerary policeman, probably didn't appreciate it.

Smith was among the city employees borrowed last week from the school maintenance job to assist in finger-printing employees at the municipal airport. He also is on the supernumerary list at the police department, and Chief Hornsby was authorized to employ a supernumerary to assist Captain Ben Seabrook of the police identification bureau in the finger-printing job.

He was carried on the pay roll of the school department, and police authorities not realizing he really was on the city pay roll, put him on their pay roll for three days at $4.67 a day for working as a supernumerary.

When the pay rolls were checked preliminary to making out checks, Smith was allowed his regular pay for the school job, but the police pay was barred.

Educators To Urge Retirement Law

Passage of a teacher retirement law at the next session of Georgia's general assembly will be urged by the Georgia Education Association, R. L. Ramsey, secretary, announced yesterday.

A G. E. A. committee already has met and initiated plans for drawing up the proposed law. Members of the committee are Dr. Paul Munro, of Columbus, chairman; Dr. Willis A. Sutton, Atlanta; Dr. L. D. Haskew, Emory University; Superintendent W. E. Knox Gray; Superintendent S. D. Copeland, Augusta; M. T. Shields, Lafayette; J. I. Allman, of the State Department of Education; Mrs. R. A. Long, president of the Georgia Congress of the Parent-Teacher Association; President Knox Walker, of the G. E. A., and Ramsey.

OPM Seizes Shipment Of Scarc Materials

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The OPM announced today that the Navy Department had requisitioned more than $1,000,000 worth of critical scarce materials being held in warehouses and railroad terminals for shipment to foreign countries.

The seizures were the first under requisitioning authority extended to OPM by President Roosevelt's executive order November 19.

With OPM's approval, the Navy seized more than 13,000,000 pounds of steel, 3,500,000 pounds of electrolytic copper, 34,000 pounds of tin, and 70,000 pounds of oakwood decking and squares.

The crowd, said, "I am innocent of the blood of this just person." Then he delivered Him to them to be crucified; and they, shouting and gathering round Him, and treating Him (who still prayed for them to God), with cruelty and insult, took Him away.

ATLANTA, GA., DECEMBER 20, 1941.

"Must"

President Roosevelt, in speaking to the group of business, organized labor and government representatives who are seeking a means of insuring no interruption, by strikes, of armament production during the war, said their duty was "must" and added the word is one "which none of us like—and I don't either."

It is, as the President said, a disagreeable word. For it is the word of compulsion, the word that is the antithesis of freedom of decision, freedom of action. It is the word that no man cares to hear applied to his own actions.

Yet there are some things in life which none can avoid, nor which we would avoid if we could.

Today the great national "must" for all of us, is to do our full part to achieve quickest possible victory over the enemy Axis powers. That comes before everything. Before, even, life itself.

Colin Kelly, and Hines Marett of Atlanta, were motivated by their acceptance of such a "must" when they dived their planes to almost certain death against Japanese ships, thereby sent to the bottom of the Pacific.

It is the same "must" that makes it impossible for any of us to hesitate, to make excuses, to fear hard work when we are called upon for additional duties in the line of war or defense service.

And it is the same "must" that will, inexorably, brand the word "traitor" upon the brow of any man, industrialist or labor leader, who does anything to interrupt, by one hour, the work of the war factories.

There can no longer be any explanation, any possible excuse for interruption of work in these factories. Rate of pay, conditions of work, recognition of union are matters that no longer weigh in the scales of importance. Americans all, we stand ready to give everything to the one cause.

If that everything includes loss of property, elimination of profits, sacrifice of pay, abandonment, for the emergency, of a cause we would otherwise consider essential, it matters nothing.

We are at war. That fact imposes upon us all a "must" so dominant that we can only bow in complete acceptance and enlist, in whatever capacity we can best fill, for the duration.

The whole nation is drafted. For a war worker to lay down his tools—for any cause—would be comparable only to a soldier who laid down his gun.

We don't like the word.

But we live under "must" conditions, today.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR—

Naturally, the Rose Bowl game is out, as we wouldn't care to have some safety man, during an air raid, signal for a fair catch of what he thought was a football.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR—

Not Entirely Asleep

The pictures tell part of the story. The Army wasn't caught entirely napping at Hickam field near Pearl Harbor. Planes weren't in the air, but from what pictures have come through the censorship it is evident they were dispersed around the field to minimize damage.

Had the Army been completely asleep, the planes would have been in the hangars and there would have been few planes to fly or to repair.

But if they were dispersed, then the assumption must be the attack was expected and someone bobbled badly in not being fully on the alert. Flaming heroism cannot wipe out the apparent laxity of the high command, and the fact the President has appointed a strong board of inquiry should be assurance there will be no white-washing.

Out of this first debacle should come a strengthening of the direction of the forces.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR—

The "greatest victory in military history," proclaimed by Hitler before Moscow, turns out to be something less. If things get too tough, Adolf may have to capture France again.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR—

Damaged—Not Sunk

The charmed life of Larry Allen has at last been broken temporarily. This Associated Press reporter is about as close as a war correspondent can come today to resemble Richard Harding Davis, Winston Churchill and the other storied correspondents of former wars.

For more than a year he has been stationed at Cairo and most of that time has been at sea with units of the British Mediterranean fleet covering the war the hard way in a service that has seen more action than any other. He was aboard H. M. S. Illustrious when she came through the most terrific air attack ever loosed against a single ship. He was aboard in several of the bombardments of the Lybian coast. His stories have been the stories of the Mediterranean war. He has recorded for Americans the tides of conflict in the tideless sea.

But Larry Allen is in a hospital today. The Jerries finally caught up with him—and apparently a cruiser to which he was attached. But he filed his story—it came through just after word came that he had been hurt. It told the story of the cruiser under day-long bombing attacks. They caught up with it and with Larry Allen that night, from what we can piece together.

But he'll come through, they say, to sail some more with the fleets that gird the globe. In all morning newspaper offices Tuesday Larry Allen was the big news, notwithstanding a world at war, because Allen is one of the greatest in a great tradition of American newspapering. The Jerries would have liked to have sent him down with the cruiser. But he swallowed a lot of oil and water and came through to become news himself. Of such is American journalism.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR—

With the enemy too far away for hand-to-hand punishment, no place for long, enameled fingernails in the war effort is seen at this time.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR—

The Manly Virtues

"By helping to keep alive the manly virtues of truthfulness, loyalty, courage and helpfulness."

In those words President Roosevelt describes the contribution that Boy Scouts of America make to national strength and morale. They are found in his Christmas greetings, sent to the Scouts this week.

It is interesting to recall that, in addition to being Honorary President of the Scouts, the President himself was a Scout for many years of his youth.

No one can compute the great service scouting has done for the nation. Not all, of course, but many of the young men who, in the various branches of our armed services have already revealed that the American quality still lives, were Scouts in their boyhood. And it is safe to predict that a vast proportion of those who shall carry high the honor of America in this war we are just beginning, will have been Scouts.

For Scouts hold firm to ideals which make real men. From the same ideals which Scouts hold true, come those qualities which make, in true sense, the worthy man, the honorable citizen and, if needs be, the unconquerable warrior for the right.

Now, as perhaps never before, the nation needs men who have kept themselves physically fit, mentally alert and morally straight. From the ranks of ex-Scouts the nation will find many such men to fill that need.

Georgia Editors Say:

IT HAS HAPPENED

(From The Louisville News and Farmer.) At last the long spell of waiting and wondering is at an end and there is some relief in knowing that the worst that can happen has happened and our country is plunged in war. Plunged into a war that was none of our doing and plunged into war when we as a nation were doing everything humanly possible to avert bloodshed. The blow has fallen and, since the blow was inevitable, many sane, levelheaded people are glad that the time of hoping against hope, of appeasement and temporizing is over, and that we are now ready to face what we must face and endure what we must endure until the time of the ultimate victory of civilization over savagery.

The American people have every right to be proud and glad that our escutcheon as a nation remains clean and that America has remained true to its policy of never seeking war, always trying to avert bloodshed, and going the last mile in trying to prolong peace. Today there are no ifs and ands about our foreign policy. We stand united as we have seldom, if ever, been united before in that every American citizen knows that this wanton attack was absolutely unsolicited and that the administration has all but leaned backwards in a conciliatory attitude. No man need say to himself, "If the President had done this," or "If Mr. Hull had said that," war possibly could have been averted. As everyone knows, while the President and his cabinet and Secretary Hull were still conferring with that arch fiend, Kurosu, bombs were falling on our insular possessions. While on our part the conference was held in good faith, on the part of Japan the conference was but a slimy way of stabbing to the heart a nation while giving a Judas kiss.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

GERMAN RETREAT WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—While the German rout in Russia still has the possibilities of proving a second Napoleon's retreat from Moscow, high government officials are yet to be convinced that Hitler's withdrawal of troops is not a deliberate move preparatory to some new thrust in the immediate future.

Unless the Russians make a complete debacle of the present German retreat, chasing them out of the country completely, some of our officials expect to see Hitler launch a new attack in one of three directions within the next few weeks: (1) A drive through Turkey against the Suez Canal; (2) a move through Spain against Gibraltar and into North Africa; and (3) an attempt to carry out long-made threats for an invasion of England.

PERSISTENT SKEPTICS But for the serious losses being inflicted by the hard-hitting Russians, this group of our officials would be more inclined to the view that Hitler is up to some new scheme. As it is, they are regarding developments skeptically.

Another plausible conjecture is that Hitler may be compelled to make some new military move, if for nothing else than to take the edge off the setback his forces have suffered in Russia. He could then say that the Soviet withdrawal was in keeping with plans—provided, of course, the Red army can be held at some prepared position further along the line of retreat.

TYPHUS RUMORED One of the stories heard in responsible diplomatic circles of Washington at typus in the German army. Prevalence of the dreaded disease among Hitler's troops has previously been referred to in cabled news dispatches from the Russian front.

Latest, diplomatic reports from European sources say that the disease has spread alarmingly and is having a disastrous effect on army morale.

In explanation of why the Russians have shown a greater immunity to the disease than the Germans, it is said that the Soviet soldiers smear their bodies with a type of grease not available to their enemies. The grease keeps away lice and other vermin, which are the main source of spreading typhus.

VERMIN-RIDDEN Moscow communiques have constantly told of the vermin-ridden character of captured Nazi prisoners. Little enough opportunity is provided for sanitary measures under the best of conditions found in the sustained and bitter Russian fighting. Even less would be expected under such-zero weather, such as the Germans are having to contend with there now. The typhus story may have greater elements of truth than we suspect.

Aside from very extended supply lines and the rigors of the severe Russian winter for which the Germans are not as well prepared, military observers on the Soviet front have suggested another possible explanation of the halted Nazi advance. It has to do with the age and character of the new troop replacements Hitler has been forced to send to the front to fill heavy gaps in his army.

BEST TROOPS GONE According to these Russian military observers, the German prisoners captured by the Soviet army during early weeks of the war were youths in their early twenties—more vigorous physical specimens who were fired with the Nazi zeal. They were Hitler's best troops. Most of them are supposed to have become casualties. During recent weeks the prisoners taken have been of a much higher age level and with none of the fanatical Nazi worship determination of their younger comrades. They are reported to have neither the physical stamina nor the enthusiasm of the earlier contingents.

If this is true, it may indicate that the war is reaching a stage where the one admitted superiority the Russians have over the German military machine—man power—is coming into play. The Russians have been able to bring up fresh reserves who are just as vigorous as the first units sent into action. That explains how they were able to launch a counterdrive with replacements just at the moment the Germans were urging their weary forces on to the final assault on Moscow.

AS TO EQUIPMENT

For the lack of equipment the situation might have unfolded possibilities. Most military persons who are competent to express an opinion do not believe, however, that the Soviet army has the necessary equipment left to press their advantage to the utmost. Nevertheless, the possibilities are not being written off so early.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Estimates Once upon a time the Japanese were, generally speaking, a rather highly regarded race among most folks in the United States. In the days when "The Japanese School-boy" was a stock character in kindly character-humor in American literature, we regarded the Japs as smart, trustworthy and, in a way, as a parallel people among Orientals to ourselves in the western world.

Of course the last remnant of that good esteem in which we held the Nipponese people was wiped out by the treachery of their war attack upon us on Sunday, December 7. Today we know the Japs for what they are and regret to admit we must have been mistaken in the long ago.

I suppose there are some good Japs. A whole nation couldn't be as false as the leaders who planned and executed the Hawaii treachery. There are, we all know, good Japs in America, today. Some have long resided among us and whom we continue to trust, as individuals.

But, regardless of the individual exceptions whose decency but makes the darker, by comparison, the foulness of their government, we should now know, and never forget, that Japanese, generally speaking, are to be looked upon with darkest suspicion.

Boyhood Teaching.

As a young boy, in Liverpool, I was acquainted with a large business firm. The son of the then head of that firm was my closest chum in school days. The boy heads the firm. And his forefathers for generations have headed it before him.

That firm did business in practically every country on the globe. Either buying their raw materials or selling their finished product. They had the records, in their accumulated legions, of all the individual transactions all over the world, for generations.

One day the father of my chum was talking with the two of us and the conversation turned, for some reason, to the Orient and Orientals. Perhaps school studies or the moment dealt with the Far East.

Anyway, this man told us, his son and I, that in all the history of his firm, they had never, in so far as he could discover, had to mark off a bad debt against a Chinese customer.

"But those Japs!" he exclaimed. "We've learned to watch 'em. It must be either cash in advance or security as good as gold when you deal with a Jap merchant. Our books show it."

I've told that little story to many people, through the years. Some have tried to argue with me. Some were great admirers of the Japs and some sneered at the Chinese. You remember the old phrase, "The wily Chinese."

But always I've remembered that judgment of the business man; make of my chum, on the comparative honesty of Chinese and Japanese businessmen.

"A Chinaman," he said, further, "will make the best possible bargain with you. He is shrewd and knows values. When you sell to a Chinese firm you might as well know, in advance, you'll have to be content with a mighty narrow margin of profit. But, once the deal is closed, whether it is put in paper or merely an oral agreement between gentlemen, you can bank on the Chinaman paying his bill exactly on the days when it falls due. And to take advantage of discounts for earlier payment, too."

Oriental Friends. I have had, in my time, a number of Oriental friends. But, thinking over the list, they all seem to have been Chinese, never Japanese. Perhaps the influence of that youthful insight into their respective business habits subconsciously influenced my likes and dislikes.

I think my best Oriental friend was a Chinaman who lived in Kingston, Ontario, when I lived there as a youth. He ran a laundry, back in the days when for a Chinaman in America to do except run a laundry, restaurant or herb doctor's place.

But this Chinese laundryman talked fluently half a dozen languages. He had traveled extensively all over the world. His lively, unerring, back of the laundry, were as beautiful and comfortable as any I ever saw. And he lived the life of an epicure, a man who relishes the finer nuances of enjoyment, whether in food, music, art or any other activity of civilization.

We used to visit him, some evenings, to hear his phonograph recordings of China's most famous singers, to sip the tea he imported personally from China and to listen to his recollections of a fascinating life and to his gentle philosophizing upon anything you care to mention.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Weren't We All? NEW YORK, Dec. 19. Yes, they apparently were caught with their hands in their pockets at Pearl Harbor, with a known thug and a notorious sneak-puncher, at that, lurking near, but weren't we all?

Our present view of the campaign to remilitarize dates only from May, 1940, and even our arguments on that phase of the problem are confused, for there were very few among the isolationists who opposed this program. Those few, incidentally, and lest we forget, were mainly Communists and Nazis, not Americans.

Most of the patriotic Americans who were isolationists up to that hour of war believed in militarizing the country but opposed President Roosevelt's foreign policy which they thought provocative and dangerous. They did not counsel unarmed surrender to anyone. They were for armed and mighty isolation.

But, before May, 1940, and especially before Hitler started this war deliberately and wantonly and in violation of every assurance that he could give to lull the suspicions of trusting, peaceful people, we all were guilty and the entire nation was still off guard when Japan struck.

Drunkenest People Not to prettify the case, we had been for a dozen years the drunkenest people on earth. Gin and rum, obsession, money and luxury and pleasure were our consuming popular interests and we made gods of trashy individuals who photographed well in the movies or shocked us with obscene books which had no other aim than to impair the respectability of Al Capone, who pandered to our vices and sneered at our hypocritical pretense of respectability.

For many years, the Protestant clergy was concerned with one issue to the almost total neglect of the needs of religion and that was prohibition, which was a constant provocation to drink and a source of crime and political corruption. In New York, New Jersey, Albany, Chicago and Boston political corruption thrived so monstrously as to impair the people's confidence in the American way of government and, finally, as to evoke the famous but too little read and almost unheeded open letter to a boss by Father Lord, S. J., which recognized this openly as a special concern of the members of the church.

Irreligious Jews abandoned their faith and a police commissioner of New York who served during the era of wonderful nonsense observed that the young Jewish criminals were ashamed of the old-fashioned piety of the old-country parents and spat at them when the old people came to weep over them in jail.

Liberties Forgotten We were not thinking of our liberties then or the duties of citizenship or any need to be prepared to fight a mad enemy. Profits, high wages, speculation and liquor were our interests and, in New York, at least, the papers assigned specialists to glorify people who were tearing up money in dives run openly by criminals under political protection. In one of our cities, the mayor collected a dollar a barrel from the bootleggers for letting them dig in the public streets and lay a pipe line for their brewery to the outlet and nobody even thought of sending him to prison.

Long ago, Woodrow Wilson, a dying man, preached a warning that if we rejected the League of Nations this country would have to go armed to the teeth forever in a world of hungry and wolfish predators. We rejected the League and refused to arm even after travelers from Europe brought back descriptions of the rising might of the Fuehrer's dictatorship and of a Russian army of 10,000,000 men. We were too busy having a good time until the crash of 1929 after which we were too busy with a number of other interests, all selfish or political.

Wilson Was Right At all events, none recognized any danger until Hitler made his war and even then few Americans were willing to admit that he might one day attack us. Or if it was possible, then it would be up to "the government," that rich, impersonal power in Washington, and not up to the individual to get us out of the jam, the same "government" which congressmen and senators preyed upon for cash gifts to their constituencies so that they could be re-elected.

Only since May, 1940, have any appreciable number realized that Woodrow Wilson was right and, as a nation, we were no more alert when the blow fell than the commanders at Pearl Harbor.

Tonight the War-Birds Fly Tonight the war-birds fly. Their hellies full of death, Dribbling blood and sleepers. Who know the lotus' breath.

This land of tropic splendor Has met with other wars. When tom-toms beating echoed Beneath the tropic stars.

Came King Kamehameha To the beach of Waikiki. Proud pirates with their booty. From prize ships of the sea.

Now maidens sing a war-chant, But dream of future times. When love and moonlight's magic Return to languid limbs.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

"OH, THE ENGINEERS" There was the yellow river, 315 feet wide, a matter of 25 feet deep, and running rather swiftly.

General George S. Patton stood watching it as the 17th Engineers, men and non-coms, started in to build a steel bridge across the Chattahoochee river at a point on the Fort Benning Reservation. The picturesque and efficient commander of the Second Armored Division watched that span of steel grow, swiftly and surely. Sections of the treadways, attached to huge rubber pontoons, less vulnerable to rifle or machinegun fire than the ordinary boat of wood or metal, were rafted into place and the steel sections locked.

The men, less than 100 of them to build a steel bridge more than 300 feet across a swift river, worked hard, fast and efficiently. About 40 per cent of them were selectees.

On the bank stood a group of visiting officers. This was the first test of something the officers of armored divisions have been wanting—a bridge to take their tanks across streams speedily and safely.

The old wooden bridge, built across wooden supports placed on boats of aluminum, was all right for horses and wagons. It was not so good for automobiles if the weather was wet and muddy. It was not at all good for tanks.

Its position was so that if a tank or one of the modern trucks, was off line a few inches, that section of the bridge would tilt. As it tilted it pushed that end of the boats below into the water. They shipped water. They sank.

The tank, or truck, as the bridge tilted, slid off into the water. This bridge was the first of its kind, on rubber boats, which don't sink. The treadways keep the tanks and trucks in line. They can whizz across.

THE AMERICAN SOLDIER General Patton looked on, following every move with interest. "I get a real thrill out of watching these engineers work," he said. "There is no finer soldier or man anywhere than those in the American army."

From visiting officers, too, there were words of high praise for the army and for the selectees. "You can't pour too much work on them," they said. "They are great soldiers."

The life of an engineer or a soldier in the armored divisions is not a bed of roses. Yet their morale is high and always has been. They are doing things, advancing, developing.

The cavalryman becomes very angry with any critic who suggests the horse is finished as an attacking unit. But it is. The horse remains as a secondary force to bring up artillery or supplies in certain types of terrain. But the horse, as much as we like him, is cast for a secondary role.

The ubiquitous, arrogant little "peep," which can go almost anywhere a tank can go, is faster and can maneuver in no more space. The army has been going along with the old-type pontoon bridges. They could be put down fast. The boats were of aluminum. On them were laid the stringers. There were crosspieces, or sills, and rails. Across the sidepieces were placed the heavy floor pieces, each weighing (and this surprised me) 150 pounds each. The steel bridge weighs less. They could be put down with great rapidity, in a sort of assembly line plan. It was great work. But there were hundreds of planks and sills and stringers. There were clamps and connections. Each stringer had four places to be clamped.

This new type, which grew out of the mind of an engineering officer who had a tank slide on the old-type wet, muddy bridge, can be used with the rubber boats or the aluminum boats. It is composed of steel treadways. They have a four-inch raised rail which keeps tanks or trucks or "peeps" or "jeeps" in line and in center. The rubber boats are less vulnerable to fire and they won't fill with water and sink.

Horses can't go across on the steel treadways. If they should have animals to transport, they can put planking across and let them go.

But the motorized armored divisions want speed. They want their tanks and half-tracks and their scout cars to cross bridges swiftly.

On this new type, the first real advance in pontoon bridges since the pontoon was invented, the scout cars can travel 30 miles an hour, and the tanks can go 20 and 25.

"TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE" The Germans developed the best-trained army in the world by refusing to accept the traditional equipment and developing new guns, new tanks, new methods of attack fitted to the machine age.

They also developed a closer contact between men and officers; a teaching of the individual soldier, and this has been done in our army to some extent. It has been done in the armored divisions more than in any other.

Every man has got to know his job. They can't be just automatons waiting on parade for commands. "Time is of the essence." The armored divisions had to make a fight to get their new-type bridge built and made ready for a test. There was considerable opposition to it. Now, they've got it and it is a great advance.

Municipal Revenue Collector, Ex-Officio Marshal's Sale

Dudley Glass

One of the fondest things I'm of, as Florian Slapay so often remarks, is reading bits from trade papers and house organs. I don't mean the technical stuff but the occasional verses and jokes which enliven these publications. Some of the jokes, I may remark in passing, would hardly be suitable for the Sunday School Visitor.

One of my favorites is "Pups," published by the employees of a local firm dealing in automobile parts. From the current issue I clip the lament of a tired toiler which bears no signature:

A mechanic's life is a heck of a life,
Whether you are single or have a wife,
You wake up about a quarter of eight,
Got to get to work and not be late.

You gobble up your breakfast and rush to the shop,
Got to sweep the damn floor before you stop,
You get caught up about twenty past eight,
Then what rolls in but a Ford V-8.

The horn won't blow, the lights won't turn,
The battery is down, the motor won't turn,
You gather up your tools and work for a spell,
Every bolt on it is froze tighter than hell.

You hammer and beat until you are ready to cuss,
Then comes a Chevy making a hell of a fuss,
Got a burnt-up valve—compression's low,
Should have been junked about a year ago.

This keeps up the whole day through,
So doggone busy you don't know what to do.
If you are single and have a date,
You'll sure have to work until half past eight.

If you have a wife when you kiss her good night,
You are too darn tired to put up a fight!

Mechanic's Lament: May Not Be Poetry But It's Earnest.

erred from the hysteria of that Sunday, two weeks ago, when the first news came from Hawaii. They are no longer nervous nor excited. They are intensely interested but they're not frightened.

This is no time—there never is a good time—to indulge in witch hunts. Nor to spread rumors. If you have facts—definite facts—you might inform the FBI—with the evidence. But the FBI isn't interested in mere surmise. Nor in neighborhood gossip.

Up in Dalton, as a military outfit was moving through the town in maneuvers, a couple of soldiers faced a small boy.

"Sonny, have you a sister at home?" they asked.

"Sho have," admitted the youngster.

"Is she pretty?"

"Prettiest thing in Dalton," boasted the proud brother.

"How old is she, sonny?"

"She's five—go on six."

Echols Press declares a little boy in Lakeland rushed up to his teacher and announced his mother had just heard over the radio that Japan had declared war on the United States and Valdosta.

Airfield Project
Work Speeded Up

The Georgia WPA put its "disaster project" into action yesterday to speed work on six emergency airfields needed by the armed forces.

Harry E. Harman Jr., state administrator, announced every available worker in the areas affected was assigned to the rush job.

Previously the Georgia WPA used this project for rescue and rehabilitation after the Gainesville, Albany and Cordele tornadoes, the Savannah hurricane last year and the Savannah river flood at Augusta several years ago.

Under new regulations of the WPA and the War Department, details of the location of the new emergency fields cannot be given, but the fields ring a strategic section and will furnish emergency bases for use at any time.

The work also includes a considerable expansion of one large existing field.

'Ration' Cards To Be Issued On Tires, Tubes

Georgia in Area of Which North Carolinian Is Consultant.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Departure of 10 consultants of the Office of Price Administration who will direct formation of local rationing boards, started machinery today for the first civilian rationing program ordered in the United States during the present war.

The 10 will work in about 24 states. Tomorrow, Frank Bane, director of OPA field operations, will meet in Chicago with a second group of consultants who will set up boards in the remaining states.

These local boards, drawn from state and local defense councils, will have full charge of the rationing plan which the government will put into effect on January 4. It will be their responsibility to issue ration cards, authorizing purchase of tires and tubes, only to "individuals and agencies requiring them for the maintenance of industrial efficiency and civilian health."

The consultants now moving into the field and the areas they will cover include:

Dudley Harmon, executive director of the New England council—Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Paul Morlon, Alexandria, Va., formerly city manager in Lexington, Ky., and Petersburg, Va.—Ohio and Michigan.

Alexander Harris, of Knoxville, Tenn., former Knoxville public service director—Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky.

L. L. Grubbs, former mayor of Rocky Mount, N. C.—North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

W. T. Ellis, of Richmond, Va., assistant Virginia budget director—Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland.

James J. Harrison, of Little Rock, Ark., chairman of the Arkansas Defense Council—Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

COUNTY COURT CHANGE.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Transfer of Meriwether county from the Columbus division of the middle district of Georgia to the Newnan division of the northern federal district court was proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Camp, of Georgia. The bill also would change the terms of the district court for the Macon and Americus divisions.

Good Morning
By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

THE BIRTH OF CHRIST.
Sunday's lesson, Isaiah 9:6-7; John 1:1-14, and I John 4:9-11, together with numerous passages from both the Old and New Testaments, form the basis of the transcending study of the coming of God's Son. The golden text: "The Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world." I John 4:14.

We shall be singing often in the next few days the Song of the Angels:

"Glory to God in the Highest,
And on earth, peace among men of good will."

And as we sing and hear sung this Song of the Angels, let us remember that "in this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him."

Any observance or celebration of Christmas that falls short of reverent acknowledgment of the Divine plan of redemption is unworthy of this focal point of human history. Christmas, when rightly observed, means "God with us." The angels said that He should be called Emmanuel. His coming was, indeed, the coming of God—His work, the work of God. John tells us: "The Word was God."

The Birth of Christ was God's way of coming to man in the form

Polly Advises Ward To Act Coldly Toward Joy

SYNOPSIS. Polly McMurray is a raven-haired, bronzed girl of the wide open spaces. She is a senior at Frontier University, a college for girls near the McMurray ranch. Dr. Kenyon Thomas Palmer has been named principal of the school. He brings along his son, Ken, tall, handsome and in his early twenties but very bashful. Polly and her brother Ward take Ken under their wings and very soon they are acquainted with western ways. Ken has been granted special permission to become the only male student at Frontier. Joy Kathryn Boone, wealthy glamour girl and orphan from Bay Harbor, New York and points east has decided to transfer to Frontier. She makes a dramatic forced landing in her private plane on the McMurray ranch and out and floats down safely during a desert storm. Doctor Palmer takes an immediate interest in Miss Boone and is anxious to make Joy happy at Frontier. Polly, Ward and the trustees of the university are co-operating with Doctor Palmer in making Joy demonstrate unusual interest in Ken. A climax is reached when Joy tells Polly that she is in love with Ken and thinking of marrying him.

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

Polly began dressing fast then. And, miraculously, her expression changed again. Miss Carlson noted with renewed astonishment that the scow had vanished, the eyes were alert and eager as before. In a moment, when she was lacing boots, Polly actually began to hum a little happy tune. She went out of the room, leaving kindly Bettina Carlson in a state of interested confusion.

Outside in the main room of the cabin, Polly saw that Joy had braved the cold to walk out on the front porch with the photographer and the syndicate writer. Ken Palmer was with Buck McMurray and Dr. Palmer outside feeding the saddle horses. That left brother Ward inside at the fireplace, working momentarily alone. Polly hastened to him.

She kissed him quickly on the forehead by way of morning greeting, and when he turned with frying pan in hand to smile at her, she placed a finger on his lips.

"Ward," she whispered, "Listen carefully to me! Things are brewing! Mind everything I say. You act cold toward Joy all day, you hear?"

"Cold?"

"Yes! Cold and disinterested. Be ever so nice, but standoffish. Show off before her, Ward. Strut your he-man stuff. Be the grand westerner that you are, and all. But don't talk much to Joy. Just kind of, uh, tolerate her! Show no personal interest in her at all!"

"But—"

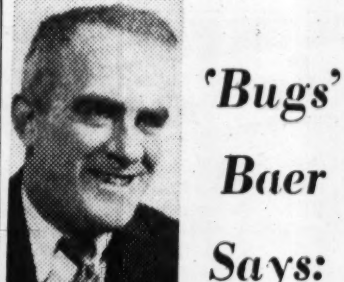

"No buts! You promised to let me handle certain matters. All right, the game's on and you've got to do as the captain says!"

The rain stopped before 10 a. m. There hadn't been enough of it to do any damage, only enough to make lion hunting impracticable while it fell.

"We'll have early lunch," Buck McMurray said, "then we can get going by 1 o'clock. That will be time for some of the cats to have made fresh trails."

"Won't the wet ground be hard to trail on, Ward?" Joy asked him, strapping on pistol and ammunition belt. Pistols were sufficient to kill any mountain lions, Ward had said.

"No, Miss Boone," He spoke

'Bugs' Baer Says:

It's Christmas week and we are at war.

Folks, you have a right to get sore at us told-you-so's.

But I'm just reprinting something I wrote on August 9, 1939, following a trip to Europe:

"War is liable to break out at any minute like a pete-man in a wooden jail-house."

"Everybody is a spy. They shot an Alpine yodeller because his echo answered him in another language."

"War is here. Like a nurse spanking quintuplets, it cannot miss."

"Hesitation is fatal in war or on a dentist's doorstep. It prolongs the agony without changing the subject."

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

am I the belle of the party to have three escorts? I thought you two were sent out here to, uh, write up Joy?"

They took the hint. In truth the time had come when they really had to stay near Joy, for they did have professional assignments there.

"Thanks, Ken," Polly murmured, when they had spurred on ahead. "They are nice enough, I suppose, but I'm glad to be rid of them!"

Ken looked angry. "Polly, if you just say the word I'll go paste both of them."

"Why, Ken?" Her surprise was genuine, although his anger flooded her with a strange delight. "But no. No, they weren't annoying me that way."

"About last night—I couldn't help overhearing them when they—"

"Oh. Thanks so much, Ken. You're a darling. But I can handle them. I don't think they're as forward as they seem. Just types. But, Ken, it's wonderful of you—to feel this way. It makes me know you are my friend."

She winked and nodded at him then, quite unconsciously; a little gesture of intimacy, meaningless perhaps, but to send Ken's blood racing. He looked off self-consciously and the sense of confusion which had been in him often here lately assailed him again. He turned to look at Polly's profile as she rode there beside him. Their horses were moving at a fast walk. Ken swallowed, realizing that never in history had there been a girl with such perfectly chiseled features or with such wholesome beauty as this one.

He was about to speak to her again, but up ahead Old Mag, the lead hound, sounded off: "Ow-u-u-u-u-u! Ow-u-u-u-u!"

"Step on it!" Ward McMurray yelled. "We've struck trail!"

He spurred as he spoke. Old Mag and her three companion dogs already had streaked up the slope, across a narrow canyon, and out of sight around a rise in the earth. Evidently the trail was fresh indeed.

In a moment the six horses here had sensed the quick excitement. Their ears laid back. Two of them snorted. All of them broke into a fast run, crashing pell mell through underbrush, avoiding rocks, snatching their riders unmercifully in a driving, pounding rush.

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Astrologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21 and April 19 (ARIES)—The tendency will be to hurry through things, to answer too quickly and possibly too thoughtlessly. Guard against this tendency, and there will be much regret later. The best aspects of the day operate between 4:30 p. m. and 10:00 p. m.

April 20 and May 20 (TAURUS)—A combination of influences operate until 7:17 p. m., making this a favorable day for business activities, buying and selling, starting new ventures and maturing old plans. After 7:17 p. m., use special care in written matters of all kinds.

May 21 and June 20 (GEMINI)—The morning hours and until 11:15 a. m. favor important plans, dealings with people in authority, buying and selling. After 11:15 a. m., favors creative effort along the lines of music, art, literature.

June 21 and July 22 (CANCER)—The day does not especially favor new beginnings. If you wish for smooth and steady progress, the day favors dealing with friends, relatives and general business matters.

July 23 and August 22 (LEO)—Plan your entire day and do not allow yourself to slip and be hurried. Be sure and be in a hurry, therefore you are likely to rush things too swiftly to their ultimate conclusion. It will be better to move slowly and with caution. After 9:58 p. m., conditions change, making this a favorable period for attending to ordinary matters.

September 23 and October 22 (LIBRA)—Your energies and ambitions will be strong today, and until 9:58 p. m., you will desire swift progress, or want to be in a hurry, therefore you are likely to rush things too swiftly to their ultimate conclusion. It will be better to move slowly and with caution. After 9:58 p. m., conditions change, making this a favorable period for attending to ordinary matters.

October 23 and November 21 (SCORPIO)—A feeling of freedom, wanting to expand or a desire to spend

'Met' Presents Mozart Opera On Air Today

'Marriage of Figaro' To Feature Ezio Pinza at 2 O'Clock.

Mozart's four-act opera, "The Marriage of Figaro," one of the greatest masterpieces of comedy in music, will be broadcast in entirety from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House today over the NBC-Blue network and WAGA, beginning at 2 o'clock under sponsorship of the Texas Company.

The star-studded cast will include Ezio Pinza, as Figaro, Bidu Sayao as Susanna, John Brownlee as Count Almaviva, Rise Stevens as Cherubino, Salvatore Baccaloni as Dr. Bartolo, and Irma Petina as Marcellina. Ettore Panizza will conduct.

San Francisco will be saluted during "Music in America," one of three intermission features to be heard during the broadcast. Morris Markay, famous roving reporter of the American scene, as commentator, will describe the musical life of the California city and its contribution to the nation's musical leadership.

Eugene Stinson, former music critic of the Chicago Daily News; Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, well-known musician, and two guests will participate in the weekly "Opera Forum Quiz." During the third intermission feature, Mrs. William Sanders Marvin, director of the Opera Guild, will be hostess to Ira Senz, noted makeup man at the Metropolitan, and Lauritz Melchior, famous tenor, for an informal discussion on stage makeup.

Judith Anderson To Star in Drama

Judith Anderson, brilliant stage and screen actress, whose current Broadway appearance in Shakespeare's "Macbeth" was proclaimed by New York drama critic Brooks Atkinson, as "her most distinguished work in our theater," will bring her talents to the airwaves in a new emotional drama, "At Any Cost," on the Lincoln Highway program this morning at 11 o'clock over WSB. Well known in the theater for her acting in John Gielgud's "Hamlet," "The Old Maid," "Family Portrait" and two plays by Eugene O'Neill, "Strange Interlude" and "Mourning Becomes Electra," Australian-born Judith Anderson won acclaim for her film portrayal of the relentless housekeeper in "Rebecca." Her other recent films were "Little Mothers" and "Free and Easy."

Warplane Builders Get Radio Salute

The birth and growth of one of the great American aviation firms, the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, will be dramatized on Wings of Destiny tonight at 10 o'clock over the NBC-red network and WSB under the direction of Mel Williamson. The corporation, which introduced the P-38 Interceptor, has a proud list of record-breaking planes to its credit. Lockheed will contribute a special announcement to the program.

Members of the dramatic cast will include Henry Hunter, John Hodiak and Betty Arnold. Known last season, she appeared in the leading ingenue role in the still-running hit, "Claudia," and immediately shot to theatrical fame.

James Dunn, who has but recently completed a successful run in the Broadway musical, "Panama Hattie," is better known throughout the country because of his Hollywood screen work.

Models Picket Dramatic Show, Win Role for Talented Beauty

Here is a man who admits a woman can be right. He is forced to because his own ears proved him wrong. He is Owen Vinson, director of Knickerbocker Playhouse, heard over WSB Saturdays at 8 o'clock, who today reluctantly admitted pretty models can be actresses as well as picture subjects. Further, he announced that Mary Owen, 21-year-old blond beauty, will be heard in the Knickerbocker Playhouse drama on Saturday, December 27.

Miss Owen was winner in an audition held this week in the NBC Chicago studio for a group of girls from the Chicago Models' Bureau. The girls won the hearing by picketing Vinson's office in downtown Chicago because he ignored their claims of dramatic talent.

It was all like a Cinderella story for Miss Owen, who came to Chicago only a month ago from native Detroit. It will be the culmination of an ambition first a few years ago when she was studying radio drama at Wayne University in Detroit.

Three years ago, Mary went east to further her hopes of a drama career and worked a full season with a summer stock company in Massachusetts. She then went to New York. Failing to obtain work as an actress, she became one of the famed Powers models.

A year later she returned to Detroit to model and to appear in commercial movies. During her spare time she sang with local dance orchestras, but never lost sight of her dramatic ambitions. Since arriving in Chicago, she has continued her work as a model while waiting for a radio "break." Now she'll get it because she has proved to Vinson that models can act as well as pose.

PAUL REVERE AT CONCORD

One of the soldiers participating in the 166th anniversary of the Battle of Lexington and Concord on Patriots Day, was Private Paul Revere from Fort Devens, a direct descendant of the famous midnight rider.

Camp Fire Plans Doll Breakfast

Camp Fire Girls' annual doll breakfast will take place this morning at 8:30 o'clock at S. & W. Cafeteria, with members of girls' cabinet acting as hostesses. For many weeks groups have been busy dressing dolls to bring as gifts to the breakfast. The party will open with a grand march led by Margaret Yancey, president of Girls' Cabinet. Each girl will present her doll to Major Gilbert Decker who will turn them over to the Salvation Army Toy Shop for distribution.

The Guardians' Association entertained at a dinner recently in honor of its new members who have come into the organization this fall. This was held at Grace Methodist church with Mrs. Walter Thomas acting as toastmistress. Mrs. Parker Liles was in charge of the program, which included Christmas games and songs.

Blue Bird groups in the Atlanta Council were entertained recently at a party in the auditorium at Nathan B. Forest school. Mrs. J. S. Alfonso was chairman of arrangements and the program consisted of moving pictures, a grand march, games and refreshments. Each girl brought a present beginning with the letter "B" for Blue Birds. These were given to the Salvation Army Toy Shop for distribution.

Listed among interesting affairs planned in compliment to the season's debutantes is the tea planned for December 23 to be given by Miss Emily Anderson at her residence on Avery drive for Miss Virginia Dulany, Margie Troutman, C. C. Proctor and Caroline Yundt.

Mrs. C. D. Hannon was hostess yesterday at her home on Madison drive at a luncheon honoring Miss Margaret Harmon, popular debutante.

The table was centered with an oblong arrangement of brilliant red poinsettias, and place cards further carried out the Christmas motif.

Covers were laid for Miss Harmon, her mother, Mrs. Howard Duffie, Jean Pentecost, Marjorie Macon, Mary Frances Broach, Margaret Peavy, C. C. Proctor, Keeker Newton, Clare Hewlett and Virginia Dulany.

Thursday's social calendar was marked by several interesting parties given in compliment to popular members of the Debutante Club.

One of the largest was the tea given by Mrs. Lawton Burdett for Miss Margaret Peavy, attractive secretary of the club.

The tea table was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a five-branched silver and crystal candelabra holding lighted tapers. Flanking this were antique silver and crystal compotes holding arrangements of colorful fruits.

Talismans roses, yellow chrysanthemums and snapdragons and cachepots filled with holly decorated the reception rooms.

Mrs. Mercer Pool, mother of the honor guest, and Mrs. Ed Medlock presided over the tea and coffee services. Mesdames Robert Hall III, Arthur Burdett, Bagley Benson and Robert Miles assisted in entertaining. Miss Katherine Poole, sister of the honor guest, received the cards at the door.

Two hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Another large affair was the dinner party given last evening at the Mirador Room of the Capital City Club by Mr. and Mrs. Nor-parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace, at their home on West Wesley road.

Miss Masie Eden has arrived from Greencastle, Ind., where she is a student at De Pauw University, to spend the holidays with her parents, Colonel and Mrs. J. D. Eden.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen and daughter, Patricia, of Kearney, N. J., arrive Monday to spend the holidays with the former's mother, Mrs. A. S. Allen, in Decatur.

Mrs. I. L. Shropshire is recuperating from a recent operation at Georgia Baptist hospital, and will return to her home the first of next week.

Mrs. Alice Harrington Kirsten has returned from New York, and will spend Christmas at her home here.

Fred Hoyt Jr., Billy Nicholson and Billy Sewell arrived yesterday from Rome, where they are students at Darlington school, to spend the holidays with their parents.

Miss Susan Gray Dillingham, of Philadelphia, Pa., arrives today to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dillingham, on Ivey road.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Bingham Bache Jr. and infant son, William Luke, of Pensacola, Fla., are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Bache Sr. at their home, 146 Seventh street, N. E.

Child Welfare Association Is Represented in Service

The Child Welfare Association has five boys in the American Navy and one boy in the Marines, Miss Florence Van Sickle, executive secretary, reported to the board of directors at the unusually fine meeting they held this week. The boys, who were scholarship students of the association and are now in the armed service, are Stanley Clark, W. H. Frederick, Clarence Chastain, Wesley Bellamy, Tay Doyle and James McBride (colored).

Mrs. Albert M. Hill, director of the Children's Institutes and Child Welfare Services for the state of Georgia, who spoke at the meeting, declared that the crippled children's division in Georgia is receiving national recognition for the work it is accomplishing and this year will operate on a budget of $300,000. "Georgia has come through the polio epidemic with less serious consequences," she said, "than has been true in some other states."

The work has not only been organized with outstanding physicians, nurses, and social workers, but is receiving the active cooperation of the director of the Warm Springs Foundation and the local Elks Club.

Mrs. Frank Neely, president of the association, paid tribute to Mrs. Hill's work and said it was something all Georgians could point to with real pride.

Miss Van Sickle reported 313 children under care in November and 45 new applications for care. Mrs. Dan McDougald reported increasing interest in the memorial fund and the genuine appreciation of the fund by people who have contributed to it in memory of a deceased friend or relative. This fund is made up of contributions given in memory of a friend or relative.

Mrs. Neely pointed with pride to the defense work which the members of the board of directors of the Child Welfare Association are carrying on in responsible administrative posts, while at the same time keeping up their vital interest in the work of the association.

Miss Wren Weds Mr. Avery Jan. 3

LAGRANGE, Ga., Dec. 19.—An announcement of white inter-racial marriage was made by Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Martin, of Talladega, Ala., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Virginia Wren, to Robert Marvin Avery Jr., of LaGrange. The marriage will be solemnized at 5:30 in the afternoon on January 3 at the First Presbyterian church, in Talladega.

The charming bride-elect, a student in the junior class at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, is a graduate of Washington Seminary, in Alabama. She is the daughter of Mr. Martin, and the late Edward R. Wren, of Talladega.

Mr. Avery is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Avery, of LaGrange, and is the brother of Mrs. Frank Hutchings Jr., of Mildred, Ala., and William Green Avery, all of LaGrange.

He is a graduate of LaGrange High school, and is a member of the senior class at Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Miss Jamie Longino

is honor guest.

Miss Julia Longino, whose marriage to Luke Seagraves will be an event of December 25, was honored recently at a miscellaneous shower and luncheon at Rich's tearoom, by Miss Estelle Russell and Miss Amy Smith.

The table was beautified with a floral centerpiece and an attractive wedding bed decorated in silver were used as place cards.

Miss Longino will be honored with other affairs before her wedding.

For Veterans.

Camp Evan P. Howell, U. C. V., will sponsor a Christmas party for veterans at the Soldiers' Home at 2:30 o'clock Monday. Veterans will be remembered with useful presents and with tasty edibles.

A program of Christmas carols and readings will be presented by several well-known artists.

O. E. S. Party.

Oglethorpe Chapter, O. E. S., will give a party this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. L. Dickerson, 3070 Piedmont road, northeast.

Pi Pi Freshmen

Entertain Tonight.

The freshmen of the Pi Pi sorority will entertain upper classmen at a Christmas sport dance this evening at 9 o'clock at the Georgian Terrace hotel and the alumnae are invited to attend.

Attractive invitations of blue and silver were issued, and a blue and silver color scheme will be carried out in the decorations of the ballroom.

The sorority's officers and their dates are Betty Brown, president, with Jack Rogers; Mary Ann Braungart, vice president, with Ewing Dean; Betty Greve, secretary, with David Blackshear; Mathilde Turner, treasurer, with Bob Gordon. Freshman officers and their dates are Nancy Woodward, president, with Clayton Harper; Fanny Massey, secretary, with Bob McClelland.

Other young ladies invited are Joan Jagels, Polly Porter, Mary Tinker, Justine Foakes, Peggy Gay, Ann Cogburn, Frances Richardson, Julia Germe, Betty Stone, Teresa Tidmore, Boudie Budd, Palmour Holmes, Betty Williams, Hollis Rawson, Bessie Manning, Tatty Ship, Jesse Strickland, Cortez Coolidge, Mildred Carpenter, Marion Moise, Frances Hertz, Sally Prescott, Clara Jones, Caroline Smith, Harriet Smith, Betty Lou McNeely, Jeanne Cantwell.

S. A. E. Formal Given

Last Evening.

The Georgia Phi chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity celebrated its 52d anniversary at a Tech chapter last evening at the Ansley hotel. The banquet was presided over by Bob Sanders, president of the fraternity.

The ballroom was decorated in old gold and royal purple, the fraternity colors. The outstanding event was the SAE leadout, during which the members and their dates will sing the songs of SAE. After the dance, members and their dates were entertained at a breakfast.

Mr. Norton Honored.

Otis Norton was central figure at a surprise shower given recently at the home of M. C. Cohen at 726 Grant street, S. E. Hosts for the occasion were the members of the Anchor Class of the Grant Park Baptist church.

Hawkins-Ramsey Wedding Plans

MARIETTA, Ga., Dec. 19.—Miss Jane Hawkins and Charles Ramsey, of Jacksonville, N. C., announce the plans for their wedding, which will take place December 22 at the First Baptist church, with Rev. George F. Brown, pastor, reading the marriage lines.

Mrs. Charles Turner, organist, will present a musical program. Usars will be H. M. Ramsey, brother of the groom-to-be, of Charlotte, N. C.; W. D. Northcutt, Athens; W. R. Putnam, Asheville, N. C.; J. W. Cummings, Chattanooga, Tenn.; W. H. and Earl Beardsley.

Miss Ann Hawkins will be her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids will be Misses Betty Guber, Jean Fraser, of Greenwich, Conn.; Betty Erion, of New York, and Hutchings Jr., of Mildred, Ala., and William Green Avery, all of LaGrange.

The groomsmen will be Lieutenant George Spence, Lieutenant Mart Bailey Jr., Lieutenant Ray A. Taylor, all of Fort Benning; Lieutenant John Randolph Tucker, of Camp Park; Walter LeFev Jr., Hartwell Reid, Welford Reid, all of Richmond, Va.; Lloyd Bowser Jr. and Gardiner Garrard.

The bridesmaids were gowns of freesia yellow taffeta fashioned with high necklines finished with ruffled collars. They carried bouquets of baby calla lilies tied with white satin ribbon and wore clusters of similar flowers in their hair.

The maids were Miss Sara Rawson Smith and Miss Beverly Bailey, of Atlanta; Miss Sally Davis, of Atlanta; and Miss Virginia Woodruff. Mrs. Edgar C. Gatewood, of Richmond, sister of the groom, was the matron of honor.

The bride entered with her father, Manuel de Arechavala, of Mexico City, who gave her in marriage and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Edgar Gatewood, of Richmond. The lustrous satin of the wedding gown accentuated the bride's patrician beauty. Made of white duchess satin the long fitting basque waist buttoned up to the neck with tiny satin-covered buttons. The high neck was finished with a tiny collar of rare rose point lace, an heirloom in the bride's family. The full skirt hung from the long waist and lengthened to form a train. A coronet of exquisite lace held the veil of illusion to her dark hair.

Her bouquet was of calla lilies. Following the ceremony there was a reception at "Wildwood," home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Frank U. Garrard.

During the evening Mr. Tyler and his bride left for Nassau, after which they will return to Columbus to reside.

Mrs. Maddox Plans Luncheon

Honoring Miss Eleanor Sauls

Miss Elinor Sauls, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Sauls, will be honor guest at the luncheon given by her aunt, Mrs. Baxter Maddox, on December 26, Mrs. Maddox will entertain in the Mirador room at the Capital City Club.

Miss Sauls graduated from Washington Seminary last June and is studying art at the High Museum of Art. She is exceedingly talented in this subject and has made rapid strides in art since she enrolled in the art class at the High Museum. Lovely Miss Sauls has brown eyes and golden hair and possesses an engaging personality.

Invited to meet the honor guest are Misses Sarah Cates, Laura Brownell, Dottie Groomer, Carolyn Howell, Florence Williams, Anne Ecken, Virginia Williams, Annette Livingston, Betty Garges, Martha Cronheim, Betty Clark, Mia Hecht, Miriam Harland, Harriet Smith and Caroline Smith.

Covers will also be laid for Mrs. Sauls, Mrs. W. R. L. Roberts, of Savannah, mother and grandmother of the honor guest, Mrs. Hugh Roberts, and the hostess.

Miss Balchin Weds

Casey Freeman.

MIDDLETON, Ga., Dec. 19.—The marriage of Miss Grace Balchin, of Middleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Balchin, to Casey Dorsey Freeman, of Tignall and Hinesville, took place at the home of the bride on December 14. Rev. Jesse Warrick officiated at 4 o'clock. Tapers were lighted by the bride's sister, Mrs. Ben Cogburn, of Columbia, S. C.

Mrs. Tom Langston, of Middleton, sister of the bride, presented music.

The bride was attired in a costume suit of tery blue wool with black accessories. Her shoulder spray was of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. J. J. Balchin, mother of the bride, entertained at an informal reception.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Freeman, of Tignall. After a wedding trip he and his bride will reside in Allenhurst.

Christmas Party.

Mrs. Hoyt Smith entertained recently at a Christmas party given at her home, 3282 Whitney avenue, Hapeville, honoring nursery department members of the Hapeville Methodist church. She was assisted by Mrs. J. T. Coggins.

Present were Mrs. Anne Coggins, Pat Coggins, Nancy Harrison, Vesta Mauldin, Carol Russell, Edwin Chapman, Herbert Moore, Anthony Ireland, Jerry Douglas, Douglas Ream, Marshall Miller, Billy Miller, Judson Anderson, Johnny Barrow.

Mrs. Ralph Eidson.

Mrs. Eidson, whose marriage was a recent event, is the former Miss Dorothy Harley, attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Harley, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Eidson are residing in Palmetto.

MISS LULA BESS WISE.
Miss Lula Bess Wise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Wise, of McDonough, will marry Robert Lee Kent, of Fort Jackson, S. C., this month, the announcement of her betrothal being made today.

Miss Sara de Arechavala Becomes Bride of John Tyler

COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 19.—The wedding of Miss Sara de Arechavala and John Tyler, of Richmond, Va., was solemnized this evening at 8 o'clock at the Trinity Episcopal church. Dr. Harry Walker performed the impressive ceremony before a gathering of southern society.

The music was presented by Mrs. Firth Lockwood, organist. The groomsmen were Lieutenant George Spence, Lieutenant Mart Bailey Jr., Lieutenant Ray A. Taylor, all of Fort Benning; Lieutenant John Randolph Tucker, of Camp Park; Walter LeFev Jr., Hartwell Reid, Welford Reid, all of Richmond, Va.; Lloyd Bowser Jr. and Gardiner Garrard.

Auxiliary Plans Christmas Party

Commander Gladstone Pitt and Mrs. C. T. Hovis, president of Atlanta unit No. 1 American Legion Auxiliary, extend an invitation to members of the post and unit to be present at the Christmas tree party Sunday at 2 o'clock at the Legion clubhouse, 1071 Piedmont avenue. Two hundred fifty underprivileged children receive personal gifts, candy and fruit. A basket of food will be given each family represented. A Christmas program has been planned.

Members of the post and unit are requested to bring a gift suitable for a pantry shower for Hospital No. 48.

Seventy-five stockings have been filled with gifts for patients at General Lawson hospital. The unit is carrying on its regular child welfare and rehabilitation program. A first aid and standard first aid course has been completed. Several members are taking instructors' courses. Twenty dolls were donated and dressed for the "Buy a Doll, Dress a Doll" campaign sponsored by the Women's Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Hovis pledges the support of her organization to President Roosevelt.

Christmas Party Planned for C. A. R.

The Lady Elizabeth Oglethorpe Society of the Children of the American Revolution will be entertained with a Christmas party today at 3 o'clock by Margene Branch and Mary Julia House at the former's home, 130 Peachtree Battle avenue.

An interesting feature will be the packing of a Christmas box to be sent to a young pupil of Tamassee Mountain school who has been "adopted" by the society. Each member is giving some article of clothing toward a complete new outfit. Stationery, handkerchiefs, toilet articles, costume jewelry, candy and nuts will also be sent. One of the most prominent national projects of the society is the C. A. R. is the work of the mountain schools committee. Of these schools Tamassee has been selected by this group as it is entirely dependent on the C. A. R. and the D. A. R. for its support.

Christina Rice, chairman, will introduce William S. Sickleford, who will be in charge of the program.

La Rocca Grove To Give Party.

Mary E. La Rocca Grove of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle will give its annual Christmas party this evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic Hall in East Point.

M. T. Barksdale will play the role of Santa Claus and will distribute gifts from a beautifully decorated tree. Mrs. Mary Barksdale will present the Juniors of the Forest No. 1 in a Christmas program.

La Rocca Grove met recently and Mrs. H. E. Shearin was accepted for membership.

Mesdames Bessie Goss, Mae Brown, Mary Barksdale and W. M. Cefires, whose birthdays occurred recently, were complimented.

Mrs. Daisy Moultrie was hostess recently to the Soule Club at her home in East Point.

Mrs. Lillian West will honor the Service Club Wednesday, December 31, at her home, 422 East Virginia avenue in College Park. Luncheon will be served and a business meeting held.

Mrs. Barber Feted

By Mrs. McClelland.

Mrs. John E. McClelland entertained yesterday at a bridge-luncheon at the Druid Hills Golf Club as a complimentary gesture to Miss Marian Barber, who will be married to Lieutenant Ralph McClelland Jr. next Saturday.

Covers were laid for Misses Jeanette Cox, Anne Garrett, Betty Brown and Mesdames Sam Meyer Jr., Julius Lunsford, Howard Graham, Vernon Kyle, Harry Gunnin, Luke Green, Tom Ulrich and C. G. Aycock Jr.

Parties for Pupils.

Mrs. Genevieve Barrett will give two Christmas parties for her piano pupils.

The younger group, who will be entertained this afternoon include Carolyn Bess, Katherine Brock, Margaret Ann, Lillian, June and Jane LeFavre, Anita Garrill, Anne Cochran, Jo Anne Johnston, Margaret Walters, Diederich Beusse, Mary Leitch Hendee, Corrie Grace Blansett, Archie Kemp, Marie the Anne Pound, Joe Leitch, Mildred Warren, Sue Trentham, Mary Sam Collier, Betty Lou Stoddard and Jackie Higgenbotham and Barbara Morris.

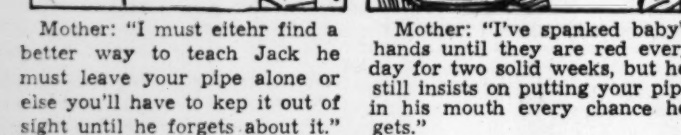

The pupils invited for Monday afternoon are Betty Joe Beusse, Jimmie Lee Cobble, Jean Smith, Mary Louise White, Patricia Leathers, Betty Smith, Louise Anderson, Bobby Bridges, Carolyn Phillips, Catherine Veal, Mary Ella Smith, Barbara Dowdard, Mary Anne Penn, Lucy Ferguson, Josephine Richardson, Mackie Wilkes and Nell Floyd.

Florida Meets U.C.L.A. Eleven Today at 2 P.M.

Crowd of 10,000 Expected To See Game at Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 19. (P)—The U. C. L. A. Bruins and the Florida Gators, a couple of teams that specialize in wide-open, all-or-nothing football, meet here tomorrow afternoon in an inter-sectional game expected to draw a crowd of about 10,000.

Coach Babe Horrell and his U. C. L. A. squad of 33 arrived from Los Angeles early today and went through a light drill.

Coach Tom Lieb sent the Florida squad through its final practice session at Gainesville this afternoon. The players will reach here tomorrow morning.

There was little to choose between the two teams in weight or on the basis of their records. Both average about 193 pounds in the line and 182 in the backfield. Each has won four games and lost five. Also on the Bruins' record, however, is a 7-7 tie with Southern California in their game two weeks ago. The Gators beat Georgia Tech, 14-7, in their last game, November 22.

Lieb's tentative starting lineup included nine of the 14 seniors on the Florida squad.

The kickoff is scheduled for 2 p. m. (eastern standard time).

Officials Named For Sugar Battle

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 19. (P)—Officials for the annual Sugar Bowl football game here January 1 between Fordham and Missouri were announced today as follows: Referee, William T. Halloran (Providence, R. All in The Game

BY JACK TROY

Success Story Wally Butts' has come a long way in a couple of seasons as head coach at the University of Georgia. And in traveling steadily to the top he has silenced at least nine out of every 10 critics.

Butts has achieved signal success not only as a coach but as a speaker as well.

Not every coach is asked to address the Washington (D. C.) Touchdown Club at the annual dinner. It's a real honor, indeed, and probably is to be traced to the hit the Little Round Man made at the New York Writers luncheon following the game with Columbia.

Such fellows as Bob Con-sidine and Stanley Woodward, echoing the opinion of all Metropolitan writers present, compared Wally favorably with the favorite raconteur among modern coaches—Jimmy Conzelmann.

Butts' natural southern drawl, combined with a keen sense of humor, has made a hit at all football gatherings, and his fame has spread across the eastern seaboard.

Originally Wally figured he was hired to do a job of coaching—not talking—but he made good at the latter without half trying. Simply because he was so natural on the hustings.

There were a lot of critics who assailed Athletic Director W. O. Payne when he announced Butts' selection as head coach. The caustic letters piled high upon his desk.

But today, as Georgia prepares for its first bowl game in history, there is nothing but praise for a wise choice. It didn't take the little round man long to justify his selection in a job which sought him. He made no overtures for it when he served as backfield coach under Joel Hunt.

Sleepless Nights It is an actual fact that worry over his team caused Butts many a sleepless night and much physical discomfort in his initial year in charge of the Bulldogs. Friends were worried about him. They thought he was troubled with an ailing gall bladder, or something.

It was all traced to worry. And today, while he doesn't have as much physical discomfort, he still does a fair job of not sleeping. It's his nature to worry, however, and so long as he coaches he'll battle insomnia.

One of the better stories they tell about Butts is the time Henry (Red) Sanders, Vandy coach, asked him what defense he favored.

"Amongst 'em," Butts replied, walking away.

Ears Whitworth, line coach, was standing near-by and Sanders asked him what Wally meant.

"Well, we tell those boys that yonder is the opposing backfield, and to get in there amongst 'em," Whittie replied.

Georgia's an exacting school. No getting around it. The alumni can't object to any such reference, either. It's the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

So Butts can't be blamed for being serious. Coaching at Georgia is a serious business. Nothing succeeds except success.

And even then there are some critics who never admit they were wrong in the beginning. They keep on keeping on.

But a nice thing about Wally Butts is that, while he worries about his team, he never lets alumni get him down. He simply does a good job and lets it go at that.

In Short Next Tuesday night at 9:30, John Fulton, of WGST, will present a watch to Frank Sinkwich in behalf of Kate Smith. Sinkwich recently was selected on Miss Smith's All-America team. Fulton called yesterday and said, "How about joining us on the 15-minute program? I'll give him the case and you give him the works."

R. J. Finley, of The Constitution, has three cousins playing center in football. Cousin Fred Holder is captain of Vanderbilt. Cousin James Bradshaw is the regular pivot man for Auburn, and Cousin Charles Bradshaw, of Lanier High, is going to Auburn as a snapper-back. To add to this unique situation, Mr. Finley played center for Shelby High, of Columbiana, Ala., and for Howard College. That's putting a family in the middle.

According to the National Golf Foundation's Ed Morris, the royal and ancient pastime will supply to defense funds a minimum of $30,000,000 in taxes and club expenses in 1942. Seeing an increase in play, Morris figures defense will be further aided by the fact of defense bonds being given as prizes in many cases. Morris numbers 2,351,000 among American golfing enthusiasts.

It is more than barely possible, however, that golf balls will be at a premium by midsummer. It may not be a bad idea to lay in a supply now.

Brumbelow, an Atlanta sandlotter, was signed by Cardinal Scout Tubby Walton and assigned to Columbus, Ga., in 1938. Last season he played with Rochester, N. Y., and Columbus.

Cub First Sacker Granted Divorce

CHICAGO, Dec. 19. (P)—Ellsworth "Babe" Dahlgren, first baseman for the Chicago Cubs baseball team, was granted a divorce in superior court today on the grounds that his wife, Josephine, deserted him on November 1, 1940. The couple were married at Salinas, Cal., on September 30, 1932.

'We'll Be Okay Again,' Opines Veteran Leader

'I Have Faith in My Country, Trust in People,' He Says.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19. (P)—If you're worried about what the war's going to do to major league baseball, come around and talk to Connie Mack.

Connie's life began before the Civil War ended. Since then the oldest manager in the business has watched baseball survive two other wars and said he today:

"I have faith in my country and trust in our people and we'll be all right again."

"Maybe this will be a long war and maybe it will end overnight the way the others did. But nothing ventured, nothing gained. I've faced other years with better teams than I have now and worried a lot more."

Even as he spoke, word arrived from El Paso, Tex., that one of the Athletics' pitchers, Rankin Johnson, has enlisted in the Navy. Four other players, Sam Chapman, Al Brancato, Don Richmond and Porter Vaughan, already had joined the colors.

Connie, who'll be 79 next Tuesday, was three when the Civil War ended.

When the Spanish-American conflict broke out in 1898, he was a 36-year-old manager at Milwaukee, in the old Western League that eventually became the American League and brought him to Philadelphia.

"That wasn't much of a war," Connie recalled, "but baseball suffered pretty badly through it. People couldn't get news of the war as easily as they can now. The newspapers had bulletin boards in front of their offices and the people would stand all afternoon waiting to read the latest news. When word came of Dewey's victory at Manila Bay the whole country went wild."

"After that war baseball quickly recovered. We were caught short in Milwaukee. We hadn't gone ahead with improvements during the war, but we should have. But Ben Johnson, who was president of the Western League, thought up an idea that helped us all. That was getting four eastern cities to join the league. That's how the American League came to Philadelphia. I got the franchise, left Milwaukee and came here to stay."

In the period following the last World War, Connie went on, the great American sport again slumped.

"But," he added, "it wasn't long before Babe Ruth came along. Then came the rabbit ball and wholesale home runs, immense parks and crowds of 50,000. That's when baseball really became an important part of our national life."

Bowling

Sixty-one entries have been received for the Defense Bond contest scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the downtown alleys. Five games will be bowled on a handicap basis, with separate prizes being awarded both men and women. Entries will be accepted up to the time bowling actually starts.

A guaranteed first prize of a $25 Defense Bond will be awarded the high scorer in each the men's and women's division and many other prizes will be added according to the number of entrants. Entry fee is only $1.75 per person, which includes the cost of bowling.

Cain, of Haas & Dodd, topped the Realtors in their weekly matches, with a fine set of 345. His games were 123, 109 and 107. Other high games were by Blanchard, 118; Gann, 118; Prickett, 123, and Teepell had a set of 314. The league-leading Sharp-Bolston team ran into a snag and dropped two games to the fourth-place Atlanta Title & Trust Company team; the second-place Rankin-Whitten team won two from Haas & Dodd and pulled up to within one game of first place.

Miller Motor Express took undisputed possession of first place in the big 12-team Motor Carriers' League and now have won six consecutive games. Williams, of the Flamingo Reds, won high game honors with a fine game of 134 and Steve Bryan, of Georgia Motors Express No. 1 team took high-set honors with a 338 for three games.

In the Sinclair Refining League, the P. D. team won two games from Hy-Vis and went again into a tie for the league leadership with Pennsylvania, who dropped two to Pennant. Holbrook, of the P. D. team, threw in a big set of 380, which included games of 123, 130 and 127, to far outshine his fellow bowlers. Moon had 334, as did Leslie, for other good sets in this league.

Ronnie Brumbaugh, senior end, is the only man on the T. C. U. Horned Frog squad who has played in every game during the last three seasons—1939, '40 and '41.

ALL-SOUTHWEST GUARD—Captain Bill Crawford, Texas Christian guard, made the first all-conference selection of the United Press, as well as various teams picked by individual Southwest sportswriters. Hampered much of the season with a shoulder injury, the 191-pound Crawford has still managed to turn in some of the finest guard performances that the Southwest has ever seen. He is a senior whose home is in Fort Worth.

American Leaguers Tie Or Smash 37 Records

DiMaggio Hitting Streak Most Notable Performance; Yanks Make Many Marks Obsolete.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19. (P)—Thirty-seven baseball records will need retouching in the American League statistics book for 1942.

The New York Yankees contributed several notable marks in the recent season. There was Joe DiMaggio's unparalleled run of hits in 65 consecutive games, and also his blast of three doubles and a home run against Detroit July 20 to tie a league mark.

The New Yorkers hit at least one home run a game for 25 straight contests for another mark. Rolling up 151 circuit blows for the season, they added the 17th year to their record of consecutive summers of 100 or more homers; they gained their 22d year of leading the loop in round trippers.

Also by the Yankees: Equaled major league record for fewest sacrifice hits with 49; set major league mark of seven seasons in which they won at least 100 games; tied own league record of winning 13 double-headers in one season; established new major league record for most double plays with 196.

Bill Dickey, of the Yankees, tied the major league record for catching by making an unassisted double play against St. Louis June 8, and broke the mark for most years catching 100 or more games with 13.

Some of the other clubs, however, took a hand in the revisions. St. Louis broke the major league mark of bases on balls with 775, and set a record by having 1,334 men left on base.

Jimmy Foss, of Boston, for the 13th straight season batted in 100 or more runs, tying the late Lou Gehrig's major league mark. Foss also struck out 103 times, adding a seventh year to his major league record of leading the loop in strikeouts.

Connie Mack, of Philadelphia, completed his 41st year as a manager, adding to his own record. Clint Brown, of Cleveland, increased his consecutive relief games mark to 213.

And on the odd side: Alton Benton, of Detroit, sacrificed twice in one inning on August 6 against Cleveland—the first time such a feat has ever been achieved.

Druid Hills Cagers Split With Russell

Druid Hills and Russell High basketball teams split a double-header last night, with the Druid Hills girls besting the Wildcats, 25 to 11, and the East Point boys shading the North Siders, 18 to 15. Limbert, with eight points, and Olson, with six, paced the winning Druid Hills sextet, while Wise flipped in four for Russell. Gross, with seven points, was high man for the Wildcats in his team's victory. Clark and Harrington clicked for four points each for the losers.

LaGuardia Decries Lack of Air Raid Protection for Civilians

People, Solons Apathetic, Says OCD Director

Widespread Training Program for Workers To Be Launched.

By LEE CARSON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Director Mayor LaGuardia tonight announced that the office of Civilian Defense will immediately become a "quasi-military mission to afford the maximum protection against destruction of life and property."

"We are dropping all recreational, welfare, health and other extraneous activities," the mayor said at a special press conference, "and will work exclusively on the protection of American people and property."

Battalions of air raid wardens, firefighters, medical corps and public utility repairmen are entering training under the direction of Army experts for active 24-hour duty, immediately, the mayor revealed.

No More Practice. The mechanical problems of air raid warning devices, LaGuardia stated, have been many but from "now on" no air raid sirens throughout the country will be sounded without orders from the Army. Practice soundings will continue during the search for devices practical to each community and locale with previous and specific announcement.

Charging that both the public and congress have "been apathetic, if not downright sarcastic" about civilian defense, LaGuardia said that the organization now found itself "completely without equipment." Both the Bureau of the Budget and congress have been informed of the urgent need of appropriations to place orders for life-protecting equipment, he said.

At least 50,000,000 gas masks in sizes ranging from "baby protectors" through "Mickey Mouse masks" (for young children) to adult sizes would be needed to protect those living in coast zones liable to attack, LaGuardia stated.

Each Costs $3.75. These masks costing an average of $3.75 each, the mayor said, "should be given to these people in coastal areas" if the Army carries through on its present opinion.

DAYLIGHT BLACKOUT—Dense smoke from the steel furnaces and from a score of locomotives rolled over the Gary (Ind.) industrial area Thursday in a new type of blackout—one for daylight hours. The idea, worked out by the Army and mill officials, was to create enough black smoke to hide the factory section from raiders.

Defense Group Promises State 'All' Protection Into Six Groups

State Auditor Thrasher Says 'More Than Hot Air' Is Needed.

A minutely organized, fully functioning state civilian defense body, reaching into every county and setting up protective measures against air raids or other warlike assaults, was promised by late Tuesday in a declaration yesterday of the State Defense Committee.

Taking cognizance of sharp dissatisfaction with events to date, expressed by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., who declared "something more than hot air" is needed, the committee's spokesman, Vice Chairman Charles A. Collier, revealed how far organization had gone.

He would not reply directly to the Thrasher statement, but said: "The full executive committee, representing every section of the state, will meet Tuesday. They will give the final authority to the comprehensive plan covering the state. Then that plan will be submitted to the Governor for his final approval. When this is given, the preliminaries will be at an end and the program launched."

Thrasher declared he would not release funds for civilian defense, but added: "This does not apply in any way whatsoever to the State Defense Corps. Those fellows began actual guard duty, relieving many combat troops, the minute war came. They already are functioning and 'going to town.' Their financial requirements will be met."

Francis Shurling, liaison officer between the federal and state governments, declared: "The Georgia State Defense Corps has been the most active and efficient, without any question, in the entire United States. It has been doing excellent service since the moment it first was called upon."

Of the civilian set-up, however, Auditor Thrasher declared: "I would want to see a definite organization at work before meeting any financial demands. My understanding is that the funds are to be utilized to protect the people of Georgia, and I hope that some concrete steps for civilian defense will be taken quickly so that we can spend the money."

His statement was made in connection with an effort of the Planning Board, which the Governor merged with the State Defense Committee headed by Hughes Spalding, to transfer Colonel Richard Job from the Planning Board pay roll to the Defense Committee pay roll.

Colonel Job's Duties. Colonel Job, the director of the Planning Board, is acting executive director of the State Defense Council and the State Defense Committee and devoting his entire time to those duties. Auditor Thrasher made it clear that Colonel Job, whom he described as "a very able executive doing an excellent service for his country," would continue to draw his pay uninterrupted.

Vice Chairman Collier said the State Defense Committee had not sought any funds, and would not seek any until its organization is completed, authorized and functioning.

Thrasher is custodian of the $50,000 defense fund set up by the Governor immediately after war was declared.

Setting up of a Georgia civilian advisory board to deal with cases at aliens recently rounded up will be discussed with Department of Justice officials in Washington today by Attorney General Ellis Arnall. He was in the national capital yesterday on state defense matters.

U. S. To Take Control of State Work Agencies

Move Designed To Speed Job of Recruiting Employees.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—To speed up the recruiting of workers for expanding war industries, President Roosevelt moved today to have the United States Employment Service today to take over the 50 state and territorial employment offices.

The President sent telegraphic requests to the Governors of the states and territories to direct that personnel, records and facilities be transferred to the federal government, which has been co-ordinating the operations of the state and territorial employment offices all along and paying most of their expenses.

"Now that the country is actually at war," Mr. Roosevelt wired, "it is more than ever necessary that we utilize to the fullest possible extent all of the manpower and womanpower of this country to increase our production of war materials. This can only be accomplished by centralizing recruiting work into one agency."

Fiscal Needs. Mr. Roosevelt told a press conference today that a committee of the Governors' Conference and the Council of State Governments had transmitted to him a statement outlining a need for national, state and local fiscal action to combat inflation, expand defense production and prepare the way for readjustments after the war.

They submitted a six-point promise to:

Give priority to activities that will best promote defense; postpone nondefense public works; maintain public facilities in order; start drafting postwar programs of useful public works; retire debt or accumulate cash reserves so that the postwar readjustment may be financed; and safeguard the services and preserve the institutions of a free democracy.

Pledge Aid. Later in the day Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd brought to the White House a statement signed by 47 Governors as well as labor, business, farm and other leaders, pledging assistance during the war crisis.

Byrd, who was active in organizing the group which prepared the statement, told reporters that Governor Heil, of Wisconsin, could not be reached but that all the other Governors had signed the statement along with William Green, president of the AFL; Philip Murray, CIO president; William P. Witherow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers; and other heads of national organizations.

NAVY YARD GUARDS. CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Charleston Navy Yard guard forces are being doubled due to the war, officers said in announcing Civil Service examinations for the job, which pays $1,500 a year.

residential districts are spread over a large area. Meanwhile, trained instructors from the police and fire departments prepared to begin Monday schools to train instructors to teach fire and police auxiliaries.

Thrasher declared he would not release funds for civilian defense, but added: "This does not apply in any way whatsoever to the State Defense Corps. Those fellows began actual guard duty, relieving many combat troops, the minute war came. They already are functioning and 'going to town.' Their financial requirements will be met."

Defense Training Slated in Schools

County School Superintendent Jere A. Wells yesterday announced formation of a Junior Defense Corps of volunteers from military units in the Fulton county high school system.

The corps will be limited to students above 15 years of age and will be under the direction of male faculty members.

The youngsters will be trained in ways they can co-operate with police and fire departments and other defense units.

Army Planes To Pay Tribute to Captain Kelly

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Army planes will fly over Madison, Fla., Sunday as home town friends gather in the Presbyterian church there to honor the memory of Captain Colin P. Kelly, hero victim of the war with Japan.

The War Department notified

Representative Green, Democrat, Florida, that as many planes as could be spared would circle over the city during the hour of memorial service. Some unidentified officials will be in the church as representatives of the Army, Green said.

Captain Kelly lost his life in a bombing attack which was credited officially with the sinking of the Japanese battleship Haruna.
